Ahead Of Normal . . . State Planting Pace Picks Up

Nebraska farmers made tremendous progress on field work last week and are now ahead of normal in planting row crops.

This was the word Monday from the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics in its weekly crop-weather report.

A few reports have been received of farmers running out of fuel, the bureau said.

However, only limited, localized fuel shortages occurred during last week's heavy usage, but farmers are paying higher prices for fuel and in some cases are restricted to deliveries of 100 gallons, according to the report.

Over three million acres of corn were planted last week, bringing corn planting to 80% complete, compared with 50% a year earlier and 74% for normal, the bureau reported.

Other comments
Soybean planting is 21% complete, compared with 9% a year ago and 19% for normal. Grain sorghum is 19% planted, with 10% was complete a year earlier and normal is 24%.

Rain is needed for germination of row crops and to soften soil surfaces for emergence of germinated seeds. Some planting of row crops is being delayed where topsoils are so dry that seeds will not germinate.

Reports on topsoil moisture supplies Friday indicate 54% of counties are adequate and 46% short, while subsoil moisture was 90% adequate and 10% surplus.

Sugar beet planting is about completed and early plantings are up to excellent stands. Late planted beets need moisture to germinate. Growers are ready to begin thinning beets.

Winter wheat condition indicate 6% of counties are excellent, 74% good and 20% fair. Wheat is close to heading in the southern areas.

Alfalfa hay condition continues mostly good to excellent with 84% reporting good to 12% excellent. Wild hay is also good to excellent with 87% reporting good and 13% excellent. First cutting of alfalfa for dehydrators has begun.

Range and pasture condition continues above average.

Precipitation via sections since the beginning of the growing season, April 1, as compared to longtime averages follows:

Northwest — 3.20 inches (1973); 3.45 inches (normal)
North Central — 2.70, 3.87
Northeast — 3.00, 4.25
Central — 2.80, 4.12
East Central — 4.80, 4.37
Southwest — 3.20, 3.65
South Central — 3.90, 4.15
Southeast — 6.10, 4.77

SLAIN GUNMAN . . . is surrounded by policemen. Rifle is in foreground.

Police Bullets Kill Rifleman

. . . In Memphis, Tenn.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A gunman strolled down a ghetto street and sprayed it with gunfire Monday, killing five people and wounding at least one other before being dropped by police shotgun blasts.

Police said the dead included a colleague shot in the back as he responded to the emergency, and a pushcart junk collector making his rounds.

Police Chief Bill Price said David Sanders, 30, of Memphis "walked down the street and apparently for no reason started shooting."

A federal probation officer working in the area was seriously wounded by gunfire and three other persons were either struck by bullets or flying glass from cars fired upon by Sanders.

Price said veteran patrolman David Clark, 31, was among officers who answered the first call. He said Clark was creeping around a house in search of the gunman when Sanders stepped from behind a garage and shot the officer in the back. James Crawford, the probation officer, was struck about the same time by a shot before he got out of his car. The auto careened down the narrow street and crashed into a parking sign.

Willie Farmer was pushing a two-wheel cart down the street and picking up discarded bottles, according to witnesses, when the gunman walked past, wheeled and opened fire on the elderly man.

Price said the gunman fled into a house near a liquor store where the shooting began. Police used tear gas to flush the gunman.

Price said the man appeared at the front door a few moments later with a 30-30 carbine, acting as if he were going to fire again. A massed contingent of officers fired a number of shotgun blasts simultaneously and killed Sanders, Price said.

He said the other victims were Jesse Dooley, who was standing on the front porch of the liquor store, John Aldridge also found outside the liquor store, and Henrietta Watson standing on the sidewalk.

A witness told police she was struck by one bullet, fell to the sidewalk and then began to get up. Officers quoted witnesses as saying the gunman then shot her at least four more times.

Price said Sanders had a lengthy arrest record on various charges and once served a three-year jail term.

Deputy Police Chief W. O. Crumby said the initial investigation indicated all of the gunman's victims were shot with a large-caliber weapon which he said was a reference to the carbine.

Motorists who suffered injuries as they passed by in their cars during the shooting were identified as Sarah Wallace Bobby Lott and Willie Record.

Brezhnev: Lasting Peace Nearer

BONN, Germany (AP) — Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, proclaiming that durable peace is closer than ever before, said Monday night he wants to lead Russia out of isolation into increasing cooperation with the West.

Brezhnev also revealed in a televised address after talks with Chancellor Willy Brandt of West Germany that domestic opposition had to be overcome before he could begin a new era of friendlier relations with his former German enemies.

"I must say very openly that it was not so easy for the Soviet people as well as its leadership to open up this new page in our relations," Brezhnev said. "For millions of Soviet citizens the memories of the past war, the huge sacrifices and the horrible destruction wrought by Hitler's aggression are still too alive."

We have been able to overcome the past in relations to your country because we do not want a return to this past," Brezhnev said.

Prior to the Soviet leader's trip to Bonn, two members of the ruling Soviet Communist party Politburo were removed for apparently opposing Brezhnev's plans to launch an accommodation with the West.

"We are not following a course of isolation of our country from the outside," Brezhnev said. "On the contrary, we believe that its development will occur under conditions of comprehensive cooperation with the outside world — not only with the Socialist countries, but to a significant degree also with states belonging to an opposite social system."

Brezhnev described the objectives of his diplomatic offensive on the eve of his departure from West Germany. He is to visit the United States next month for talks with President Nixon.

Brezhnev said his Bonn trip was part of a Soviet decision "to implement a radical turn toward détente and peace on the European continent."

He said "dangerous tension persists" in the Middle East, but that elsewhere the horizons are brighter.

"The war in Vietnam has ended," he said. "On the whole, one can perhaps say that our planet today is closer to durable, lasting peace than ever before. And the Soviet Union is shifting all its weight to buttress this beneficial tendency."

Brezhnev and Brandt agreed Monday night that West Berlin should not be a stumbling block to the development of closer ties between their two governments. West Berlin lies 110 miles inside Communist East Germany.

The two leaders signed a communique in which both agreed that strict adherence and full application of the 1971 four power pact on Berlin was an essential precondition for lasting détente in central Europe and for an improvement of relations between the states involved, especially between the Federal Republic of Germany and the Soviet Union.

The 1971 pact signed by the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union recognizes non-political ties between West Berlin and Bonn. But it underscores that the western part of the former German capital is not a part of West Germany and cannot be ruled by Bonn.

The communique invited Brandt and West German President Gustav Heinemann to visit the Soviet Union. Both accepted, but no dates were announced.

Other major points of the communique were — Both sides agreed to hold regular consultative meetings at the summit and lower levels.

— Further bilateral treaties covering scientific cooperation, transportation of persons and goods, shipping and environmental protection were put in prospect.

— Brandt and Brezhnev welcomed current negotiations between West German industrialists and the Soviet government for the erection of an iron and steel mill in Russia. The two leaders also agreed to encourage cooperation in the chemical industry, the peaceful uses of atomic energy and the exploitation of the Soviet Union's mineral wealth, especially crude oil.

Vaughn Monroe, 62, Dies

STUART, Fla. (AP) — Vaughn Monroe, the bandleader and singer who rose to prominence in the 1940s with the theme song "Racing With The Moon," died Monday in a hospital here. He was 62.

Monroe underwent stomach surgery two weeks ago. His wife, Marian, said he became ill after returning from an engagement in Louisville, Ky. She said he had been bleeding internally.

Board Votes Not To Cut LT&T Valuations

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

The majority of the Lancaster County Board of Equalization Monday with little discussion voted to make no change on the valuation of the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co. personal property.

LT&T, in its appeal to the board, asked a $5 million reduction in personal property valuation on grounds that personal property is not being assessed at the same rate as real estate as required by law.

Commissioners Kenneth Bourne and Robert Colin agreed that they didn't want to make any change in the valuation but to let the case be decided by the courts if necessary.

However, Commissioner Jan Guager did not vote indicating that she didn't feel she was prepared to vote on the matter Monday.

Colin said he didn't know who is right in the matter so he didn't feel he was qualified to make a change on that basis.

In the protest, which was the only personal property appeal filed with the board, LT&T contended that the county assessor's assessed valuation of the company's personal property set at $13,293,432 is "erroneous and illegal" and should be reduced to at least $8,735,646.

In a hearing on the application last Friday, the firm contended that on the basis of a study conducted for them by former state tax Commissioner Fred Herrington, real estate property is valued at only 23% of actual value while their personal property is at the statutory 35% level.

Lincoln attorney Richard Smith, representing the telephone firm, told the board at the hearing that "it appears to me there are figures here which are being massaged in some way" so the sales-assessment ratios do not accurately reflect the actual sale prices of properties in the county.

Herrington testified that in checking records in the register of deeds office against the records in the offices of the county assessor and treasurer he found that during 1971 almost 100% of the selling prices were adjusted downward from the sale prices reflected in the revenue stamps on the deeds.

He explained that by adjusting the sale prices downward, the sales-assessment ratio is made to look better than it is.

Assessor Fritz Meyer told the board Monday that individuals filing deeds are given the choice of purchasing revenue stamps for the total price including any personal property which may have been included in the sale or the price without the personal property which is shown on the confidential report.

He said Register of Deeds Kenneth Ferguson estimated that 75% will pay the full amount for revenue stamps to include the personal property for capital gains purposes.

Meyer also noted that many sale prices on deeds may be considerably higher than the actual sale due to an agreement between buyer and seller and the register of deeds has no way of checking.

He said as he understands it this again is done for capital gains or tax purposes.

However, at last week's hearing, Herrington testified that he felt it was strange that not a single vacant lot sale was reflected in the sales used for the sales-assessment ratio data forwarded to the state tax commissioner by Lancaster County in either 1971 and 1972 and that the average sale prices dropped between 1971 and 1972 according to the sales-assessment report while the average sale price jumped during those two years according to figures obtained from multiple listing realtors.

Smith told the board that LT&T was not arguing the value of their property but the equalization of that property with other property in the county.

He cited the Grainger Bros. Co. v. Lancaster County Board of Equalization case of 1966 in which the court held that assessment of personal property must be equalized with assessment of real property in the county.

Fulbright Outlines 'Ominous Scenario'

©The New York Times

Washington — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, warned Monday that growing dependence on Middle East oil might lead the United States or its "militarily potent surrogates" such as Iran or Israel to take over by force the oil-producing Arab states.

In a Senate speech, at times critical of Israel, the United States and the Arab states, the Arkansas Democrat outlined what he said was "an ominous possible scenario for the years just ahead" if a political solution is not found for the Middle East situation.

Because of the energy crisis, "our present policy-makers and policy-influencers may come to the conclusion that military action is required to secure the oil resources of the Middle East, to secure our exposed 'jugular,'" he said.

"There is no question of our ability forcibly to take over the oil-producing states of the Middle East," Fulbright said. "They are militarily insignificant, constituting what the geopoliticians used to call a 'power vacuum.'"

"We might not even have to do it ourselves," he said, "with militarily potent surrogates available in the region."

He said the Shah of Iran had shown a desire to have a "protecting" role in the area, and that an Israeli scholar feared that Israel might take over Kuwait.

His remarks were immediately challenged by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., who is a strong supporter of Israel.

Jackson said Fulbright's suggestion that force might be used against the Arab oil-producers was "utterly irresponsible" and would increase Arab apprehensions, which "even now are a major source of instability in the Middle East."

Israel has strongly opposed an imposed solution, as has the U.S., and Jackson said Fulbright's proposal "would make more precarious the situation of our friends in order to court and appease those Arab nations for whom blackmail and sanctuary for terrorists serve as foreign policy."

'Extension Students' Honored

William L. Rush of Omaha was born with cerebral palsy. "It is impossible for me to function in a regular high school," he wrote, "since there are no schools in my city specifically designed for people with handicaps."

Rush takes independent study by correspondence from the University of Nebraska Extension Division, and he was one of seven named "Outstanding Students" for the 1972-73 school year.

Rush said he believes correspondence study is no easier than regular high school programs.

"I think a person learns a great deal through correspondence because he gets individual help from his instructor and supervisor," he wrote in the May 16 edition of the UNL Extension Division Independent Study Newsletter.

"I plan to be a writer, and I know that studying by correspondence is a help to me in achieving my goals," Rush wrote.

Mrs. Geneva Cromwell of Chappell, another "Outstanding Student," cited her growing friendship with her instructor as her course work progressed.

"You were so understanding when there was a delay because of my obligations which had to be met," she wrote in the newsletter. "I have a feeling of accomplishment because I have finally achieved what seemed impossible to me."

Mrs. Cromwell earned a high school diploma after raising her family, and completed her course work while maintaining her home and working as a clerk in a grocery store.

Another "Outstanding Student," Susan Hall of Slana via Gakona, Alaska, wrote that correspondence study was necessary for her because of the remote area where she lives.

She said, "I found the education I was receiving more rewarding than any I had taken before."

It allowed me to be responsible for my work and study habits (and) it has taught me to experiment on my own and decide what I want to do in the future."

Susan plans to pursue a career in horticulture and related sciences.

Four of the seven "Outstanding Students" tied for first-place honors in their divisions. The first place winners and their categories are:

Adult Division — Mrs. Cromwell and Mrs. Gypsy Silverthorne de Zaccapa, Tegucigalpa, Buena Vista Honduras, Central America (tie).

Handicapped Division — Rush

Stateside Division — Susan Hall

Overseas Division — Kathy Ann Pease, Koutiala, Republic of Mali, West Africa and Janet Carey, Bangui, Central African Republic.

Nebraska Division — DeAnna Bartels, Hastings, who recently moved to Arizona.

Mrs. Nora Lucking of Plymouth was one of 24 students world-wide given honorable mention citations.

Haldeman Invoked Nixon's Name

Washington (AP) — H. R. Haldeman invoked the President's name in asking the FBI not to pursue a Mexican lead in the early investigation of the Watergate break-in, a Senate committee hearing was told Monday.

The disclosure was made in the course of Senate Foreign Relations Committee questioning of Richard Helms, the former director of the Central Intelligence Agency who now is ambassador to Iran.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., read a memorandum written by Lt. Gen. Vernon Walters in which he said he was ordered by Haldeman, then Nixon's chief of staff, to contact acting FBI director L. Patrick Gray III and was told "it is the President's wish."

Walters had said earlier that he was told to convey to the FBI that any such investigation could compromise CIA activities. He said he learned later that was not the case.

Walters was deputy director under Helms.

Helms told the Senators he could not recall specifically whether the President's name was invoked at the meeting with Haldeman and Walters, but said he could not say so categorically.

Meanwhile, the special Senate committee investigating the Watergate scandal prepared to resume its televised hearings Tuesday with the witness again Watergate conspirator James W. McCord Jr. John C. Caulfield, who McCord says relayed offers of executive clemency to buy his silence, was to follow.

There were these other Watergate-related developments Monday.

—Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans, along with attorney Harry L. Sears, pleaded innocent in a New York court to charges related to a secret $200,000 contribution to Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign. The charges involve a federal investigation of financier Robert L. Vesco.

—Elliot L. Richardson's prospects for confirmation as attorney general brightened after he told the Senate Judiciary Committee that Archibald Cox will have full, independence authority as special Watergate prosecutor. Cox assured the senators he will follow the Watergate trail "wherever that trail may lead"—even to Nixon's office. He said his power to act independently is as much "as anyone could ask."

—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew told a Republican club to guard against "being stampeded into protesting entirely too much" about Watergate. "Republicans must not allow the content of their speeches statements and even private conversations to be controlled by those who are literally obsessed with one subject," the vice president said.

—Former White House aide Egil "Bud" Krogh, who took the responsibility for the burglary of the safe of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist, was at the federal courthouse to confer with Watergate prosecutors.

—Caulfield and Frederick LaRue, both former White House aides, appeared to give pre-trial statements in a Watergate civil suit, but left shortly after, apparently without testifying.

—The White House said it will disclose on Friday details of President Nixon's land transactions in California and Florida. The issue was raised in a story in the Santa Ana, Calif., Register that said Senate investigators were looking into the possibility that 1968 campaign funds may have been used to finance Nixon's San Clemente, Calif., estate. The White House and the Senate Watergate committee vehemently denied the report.

—The Washington Star-News said Donald H. Segretti's reported undercover activities are being investigated by the Justice Department in San Francisco, San Diego, Pittsburgh, Portland, Ore., and possibly Milwaukee.

Helms ... testifies. AP

—Another story in the Star-News said Nixon campaign advisers still were distributing "hush money" to the Watergate conspirators as recently as April when the Watergate coverup story began to emerge.

Mitchell, Stans Plead Innocent

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and ex-Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans pleaded innocent Monday to perjury and influence peddling charges growing out of a secret $200,000 cash contribution to President Nixon's re-election campaign.

Mitchell, Stans, financier Robert Vesco and former New Jersey Republican leader Harry D. Sears were accused in a May 10 federal indictment of conspiring to obstruct a federal investigation of Vesco's business dealings. Sears also pleaded innocent Monday.

Asst. U.S. Attorney John R. Wing reported Vesco was "out of the country." Vesco has ignored a subpoena and is believed living in Costa Rica. District Court Judge John M. Cannella issued a bench warrant for his arrest.

The indictment charged that Mitchell and Stans, while leaders of the President's re-election campaign, illegally interfered with a Securities and Exchange Commission investigation of Vesco's Investors Overseas Services.

All three defendants Monday waived the reading of the indictment (Cannella explained their rights and asked for their plea "Not guilty." Mitchell declared in a clear voice. Stans and Sears followed.

Cannella rejected a government request for $1,000 personal recognizance bonds. He also said the photographs and fingerprints normally required in a criminal case would not be necessary.

He released all three in their own recognizance and they went to the chambers of Judge Lee P. Gahard, who was assigned as trial judge in the case by a random drawing.

Plans Were Drawn To Use CIA, Pentagon In Spying, Senator Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington said Monday he has obtained secret White House documents sketching a plan to use the CIA and the Pentagon to gather intelligence information within the United States.

The Missouri Democrat said some of the proposals were in documents hidden by ousted White House counsel John W. Dean III for a time in a safety deposit box at a suburban bank. The documents "set no limits."

The World of Amway

A different world.

Amway's Sales and Marketing Plan has made it possible for thousands of people with little experience or capital to establish successful businesses of their own. These thousands of successful businesses are built on the solid foundation of marketing over one hundred fifty fine quality products to American and Canadian households. In twelve successful years, millions of satisfied customers have purchased hundreds of millions of dollars worth of Amway household products—and come back repeatedly for more.

Amway distributors start their businesses with only the most modest initial investment—twenty-five dollars or less—and even that is refundable. Most start part time. They risk only their time. But with hard work, through serving others by marketing fine products, and through sharing their business opportunity with others, Amway distributors can build a successful part-time or full-time business with great rewards. And so Amway has become one of the world's largest organizations marketing products direct to the consumer. And the Amway business opportunity has brought financial independence and security to thousands of men and women.

Success brings imitation. But the Amway Sales and Marketing Plan is an intricate and finely tuned plan that is the product of over twenty-two years of experience by the founders of Amway Corporation. So as others have tried to emulate Amway's success, they too often have overlooked certain vital details. From time to time these other plans have been presented in the marketplace as "just like Amway," or "an improved Amway." Maybe. But usually not. Most have been warped into pyramid sales schemes, endless chain referral plans, wholesale buying clubs, inventory loading schemes, and unethical multi-level sales plans.

What is the difference?

1. The Amway Sales & Marketing Plan is basically a selling plan, not a recruiting plan. Amway's plan has as its foundation the retailing to households, businesses, and institutions of over one hundred fifty high quality, easily sold, reasonably priced products. Amway's products are of the type for which the need is well established—no high pressure sales tactics are necessary. Product sales are basic to the Amway plan, not incidental.

2. Amway's distributorships are not sold. You can't buy a position or title. There is no required inventory purchase and no minimum inventory requirement. You don't have to buy a garage full of products to become an Amway distributor. The initial investment is twenty-five dollars or less for a sales kit. Unused supplies and inventory are returnable for refund. Success with Amway is earned—it is not for sale.

3. All Amway distributors start the same way—by being "sponsored" by another Amway distributor. But there is no compensation to the sponsor for the act of recruiting—Amway pays no "head-hunting" fees. Sponsors are responsible for educating, motivating and supplying a new distributor and will profit only when their new distributor becomes a successful selling distributor. Success with Amway is a result of effort, knowledge, and personal involvement—not chance.

4. For Amway distributors, the principal rewards are based on retail sales and repeat sales to individuals, households, and commercial establishments—not on "finder's fees," franchise fees, or the resale of inventories and franchises to others. Amway's plan is a sales plan—not a "buy-in" plan.

5. The Amway Sales and Marketing Plan does not degenerate into a "wholesale buying club" because the products can be sold at reasonable prices, have high quality and high repeat demand, and the plan is not overloaded with an unreasonably high discount structure.

6. With the Amway Plan, earnings quotations are based on data covering representative distributorships that have earned these sums regularly for realistic periods of time. Amway does not have to rely on unproven "potential" figures—Amway's long history of success is the sound basis for its claims.

7. The Amway plan is supported by millions of dollars worth of quality national advertising. Amway sets standards for local advertising, and monitors distributor claims relating to products and sales plan.

8. Amway conducts a widespread home office educational program to help distributors become successful. Amway distributors are independent, but not alone.

9. Amway Corporation develops and manufactures its own products, in its own plants, laboratories and other facilities representing a multi-million-dollar capital investment. It employs over sixteen hundred people, with a large staff of research specialists and quality control technicians. Amway's commitment to the future is strongly evidenced by its huge investment in facilities and trained specialists.

10. In the Amway plan there are no "free riders"—everyone must produce to participate. Sponsors must achieve a regular minimum retail sales volume to retain sponsorship privileges.

11. All Amway products are backed by a money-back satisfaction guarantee which is backed by the company. Years of customer satisfaction give proof the guarantee is more than just words.

12. Independent Amway distributors operate under a carefully designed Code of Ethics developed over years of experience to protect the rights of the customer and preserve the value of the business that each distributor develops.

Investigate
before you invest!

If you are being asked to join a direct selling plan, look into it carefully before you invest your time or money. Use the above statements as a check list...they are the keys to a good sales plan. Ask yourself if the plan you're considering includes each of these features. The answer should be "yes" every time...otherwise you should proceed with great caution.

Better yet, if you are interested in a part-time or full-time business opportunity offering great rewards, consider the Amway Sales and Marketing Plan...contact your neighborhood independent Amway distributor...get all the details...and join the World of Amway!

Court Blocks Merger Of Richmond Schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court Monday blocked consolidation of predominantly black Richmond, Va., schools with those in white suburbs, but left unsettled the fate of similar plans elsewhere.

The high court split evenly on the issue, 4-4, thus setting no precedent for other courts to follow.

The votes affirm the lower court decision under appeal, in this case one by the U.S. Circuit Court in Richmond.

No opinions are issued in tie votes, nor is the breakdown of the vote announced. The tie was made possible because Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr., a former member of both the Richmond and Virginia State School Boards, took no part in the case. The split vote placed Powell, perhaps the least predictable of President Nixon's four conservative appointees to the court, at the center of the controversy over the course of school desegregation in the 1970s.

World News

Similar metropolitan desegregation suits are pending in Atlanta, Boston, Louisville, Detroit, Dallas and other cities.

The terse message from the court came less than a month after full dress argument on the issue. "The judgment is affirmed by an equally divided court," it read.

Five Ku Klux Klansmen Guilty Of Bombing Pontiac Schoolbuses

Detroit (UPI) — A federal judge Monday found five Ku Klux Klan members, including a former grand dragon, guilty of bombing school buses in a plot to disrupt a court-ordered busing program in Pontiac, Mich.

U. S. District Judge Lawrence Gubow called the bombing a "reprehensible act of destruction" and the Klan "a racist organization which advocates white supremacy."

Ten empty buses were bombed Aug. 31, 1971, less than a week before school started.

Gubow, who tried the defendants without a jury at their own request, convicted Robert Miles, 48, of Howell, Mich., a former grand dragon of the Michigan KKK and former national chaplain of the United Klans of America.

Found guilty with Miles were Dennis C. Ramsey, 26, of Drayton Plains, former "exalted cyclops" of the Michigan Klan, Wallace E. Fruit, 31, of Drayton Plains, Alex J. Distel Jr., 24, of Clarkston, and Raymond J. Quick, 26, Lake Orion. "It's the biggest frame-up in history," said Fruit.

Ag Official In Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carroll Brunthaver, a top Nixon administration authority on trade and farm policy, is in Moscow this week for talks with Soviet leaders, a spokesman said Monday.

It is part of ongoing economic discussions we have been having for some time with the Soviet Union," Claude W. Gifford, director of communication for the Agriculture Department, told a reporter.

Asked if the talks might involve further U.S. sales of grain or possibly new credit arrangements with Moscow, Gifford would say only that "one may speculate" whether those points are being discussed.

The trip by Brunthaver was not announced. Other officials, asked about his whereabouts, referred reporters to Gifford.

In April last year, Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz led a team to Moscow for preliminary discussions on U.S. farm trade. Nothing was announced at the time, but on July 8, 1972, the White House announced that a three-year pact involving $750 million in U.S. credit for grain had been signed.

It later developed that the Russians had purchased huge quantities of U.S. wheat and corn for cash in deals which actually commenced before the July 8 credit announcement by President Nixon.

Those sales eventually totaled about $1.1 billion and included the purchase of 440 million bushels of wheat, one-fourth the U.S. crop.

Skylab Mission Control Walks Thermal Tightrope

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Battling time, the Skylab 1 astronauts Monday practiced the tedious maneuvers they must perform perfectly to save America's space station. Mission Control walked "a thermal tightrope" keeping the overheated orbiting lab in shape for salvage.

Astronauts Charles Conrad Jr., Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz worked in simulators at the Johnson Space Center near Houston, rehearsing the techniques for fixing a broken solar panel on Skylab and for installing an umbrella-like sun bonnet to cool off the lab.

The spacemen then fly to Marshall Space Flight Center near Huntsville, Ala., and plan to practice the repair job procedures in a water tank there on Tuesday. By rehearsing underwater, the astronauts achieve sensations similar to weightlessness.

Engineers in Mission Control are "walking a thermal tightrope," said an official, trying to keep one part of Skylab from overheating and another part from freezing.

The baking effect of the sun is causing temperatures to hover at sauna-like 115 degrees in the crew and workshop part of Skylab. Another section of the 118-foot-long craft is facing away from the sun and temperatures there are approaching 34 degrees. Engineers worried that water in a plumbing system may freeze, causing pipes to burst.

Mission Control is delicately maneuvering the craft as required to achieve a workable balance.

Engineers, faced with a tightening schedule, are completing fabrication of sun shields designed to control the high heat being soaked up by the Skylab.

These will be flown to Cape Kennedy on Wednesday and officials will make a final decision on Thursday on whether to attempt a launching Friday.

U.S. Says Communists Building Road Network In S. Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — The Communists are building a 150-mile road network from the northwest border of South Vietnam to the central coastal plain, U.S. sources said Monday.

The officials said the network extends from the A Shau Valley, a long-time Communist base area bordering Laos, southeastward to Binh Dinh Province on the central coast.

"This is something new," said the source. "This is one new activity the other side has applied that is different than before the cease-fire."

He said the intent of the Com-

White House Pressure On Safety Unit Alleged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Senate aviation subcommittee said Monday the administration has brought pressure to bear on the National Transportation Safety Board, which was created by Congress to be independent.

The chairman, Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., said that in personnel matters alone White House tactics "have served to politicize the inner workings of the board to the point it is subservient to the White House and the Department of Transportation."

Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, defended the administration and the conduct of John Reed, the safety board chairman.

"This is a tempest in a teapot," Stevens said. "I don't want to see the board sucked up in the prop wash of Watergate."

Reed said he felt the White House had the right to advise on personnel matters and appointments.

In 1971, the board in its annual report to Congress voted 3 to 2 to include a statement that it should be completely independent of the Department of Transportation to avoid even the appearance of a conflict of interest.

In the 1972 report, three members said Reed advised them that the White House wanted no statement of independence again and no criticism of federal agencies. Republican members would be disciplined if they did not go along, Reed was quoted as saying.

Negotiators Make 'Some Progress'

PARIS (AP) — American and North Vietnamese negotiators have made "some progress" in their talks on ways to implement the shaky Vietnam peace agreement, Henry A. Kissinger said Monday.

President Nixon's national security adviser made the brief comment to newsmen after meeting for five hours with Le Duc Tho, Hanoi's top Vietnam negotiator. It was the fourth session in their current series of meetings, which began last Thursday.

Kissinger spoke after bidding Tho a cordial goodbye at his car outside the American-owned villa in suburban St. Nom la Bretee where they conferred. He declined to elaborate on the talks, but the two delegations said Kissinger would meet with Tho again Tuesday.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

More than one commentator has questioned the "validity" of the 1972 presidential election in the light of continuing Watergate disclosures. The interesting thing about this is the effect it might have in the future on the political direction of the nation.

On what grounds would one question the validity of the 1972 victory of President Nixon over Sen. George McGovern? The only grounds available for such questioning are moral grounds — the question of whether or not the election was won fairly.

It seems apparent now that the election was not won fairly but this does not provide us with any neat answer to things. It does not mean, for instance, that George McGovern should have been the winner or that, under certain conditions, he might have been the winner.

Whether he might have been a winner or not cannot be determined with any degree of accuracy until the Watergate affair is settled once and for all, until all are satisfied that the facts have been fully disclosed. Only then might one say whether those facts might or might not have altered the outcome of things in 1972.

It is a fairly safe bet, however, that McGovern lost and Nixon won on the basis of philosophical differences, not on the basis of any moral questions or on any measure of personal integrity. What is now threatened is the 1972 judgment of the American people that they did not want to move along the more liberal lines that appeared to be the backbone of the McGovern candidacy.

It would be a very great mistake to use the Watergate affair as a means of avoiding the basically conservative stance by which Nixon won the election. In other words, Watergate is not a disclaimer for what Nixon stood for in winning in 1972.

That episode at a Washington hotel, however, could ultimately overshadow philosophical matters. It could bring a shift in 1974 off-year elections heavily to the Democratic side and away from Nixon's conservatism.

Republican party spokesmen may be correct in saying that the Watergate does not tarnish the party as a whole nor its individual candidates who had nothing to do with the President's re-election campaign. But what is technically true may be a long way from practical reality.

The GOP all up and down the line would be naive to think that the Watergate is not going to cost them dearly in 1974. There will be countless numbers of voters in 1974 marking their ballots with Watergate in mind and never giving a thought to the association of the candidate with that affair.

Thus, the ultimate effect of Watergate is likely to be to alter the philosophical course of the nation, even though it had nothing to do with that. Nixon won in 1972 because he proposed less government and McGovern lost because he stood for more government. In the minds of voters Nixon was also more clearly and precisely understood than McGovern.

What is hoped is that the political victors in 1974 keep in mind the distinctions that ought to be made in affairs. A vote against the GOP as a product of Watergate is not to be interpreted as a vote for massive new federal programs.

We doubt very much that Nixon really received the mandate for dismantling the federal government that he has said he received. This called for reform, not destruction, and that is the important thing to keep in mind when we look at the many problems that face us beyond Watergate.

It is in those areas beyond that we now appear to be in a state of suspension.

VIRGINIA PAYETTE
An Ode To Prudence,
Beloved Family Car

NEW YORK — If Shelley could write an ode to the West wind, lesser mortals can scribble a few lines in memory of a faithful family friend who gave us the best miles (and highest repair bills) of her life.

This, then, is an "ode to Prudence," who finally gasped her last a few days ago. Emergency oil transfusions, which had kept her alive for months, failed to work their magic one more time.

After nine years and more than 100,000 miles, Prudence had finally had it. And family members from New Hampshire to New York to Texas mourn her passing.

Prudence was the family bug, a trusty little car that helped put two offspring through college. She did in her old age, however, develop a cantankerous reluctance to start on cold mornings without a push. (Don't we all?)

Our little blue jelly bean survived two teen-age drivers, six wild cross-country trips, and many a joy ride across sandy dunes on Texas beaches.

Hers was not an easy life. Once, under mysterious circumstances we never did find out what really happened, she flipped over on her back with all four tires spinning in midair. A most undignified position for such a gallant lady.

But when her two husky custodians crawled through the windows, flopped her back on her wheels and started her up again, she dutifully delivered them home.

Prudence became, over the years, the queen of mechanical transplants. New motor, new seats, tires, various parts and gadgets — and Lord knows how many new fenders that didn't match her paint job. ("New" for her, that is, she was a constant client of every cheap parts shop in three states.)

Prudence was done in, finally, by a repairman who took her in with a wheeze and sent her home with a clunk. Tender, loving care — and 88 quarts of oil — kept her limping for a while. But she never made it to graduation. She died five weeks before the Big Day.

We are not people who trade a car in every two years. Some mechanical mystique takes over and we find ourselves attached to our automobiles.

Both kids, for instance, grew up in a big black monster named Betsy, which could transport an entire den of Cub Scouts or a Girl Scout troop on camping trips with only an occasional squawk from her suspension.

And when, after 12 years, Old Dad drove us out "just to look" at a spiffy used sports car and closed the deal — that VERY afternoon — we all felt betrayed.

Later, when Betsy II came along, she moved right in and lived with us for nine years, clocking 138,000 miles before she collapsed and had to be hauled off to the burying ground.

But this "ode" has a bittersweet ending. Although Prudence's trade-in value is zilch, her young owner is dicker with a beach-buggy place to buy her for yet one more bit of surgery.

"That way," he explained, "we'll know she's happy. She always did like the beach, you know."

Late Returns

A Shaky Foundation

One feature of South Vietnam President Thieu's post-war reconstruction and economic program that caught our eye was the part about creating a new national department of tourism. The existing department, he said, is "weak on all aspects."

It is estimated that South Vietnam stands to lose some $400 million a year in money that was spent by departed American troops. To offset that loss and help fund his new program, Thieu is turning to tourism, among other things. The development of tourism, Thieu said, "has a large capacity for obtaining foreign currency, creating new employment for a sizeable number of people, and at the same time helping develop the Vietnamese handicraft."

What is interesting about tourism development as one of the keys to post-war reconstruction is that Thieu must be one of the great optimists of all time. Not that Indochina lacks attractions for tourists. It is said to have been a charming place to visit. But to attract visitors in any sizeable number — other than the nonvoluntary, military type tourist — essential ingredients are presently missing. Chief among them, peace and stability. "Visit War-torn Vietnam" is not a poster slogan likely to start a stampede. And it does not appear that an atmosphere conducive to stimulating the tourist trade will settle on Indochina for some time to come. The cease-fire agreement on paper does not obscure the fact that the two Vietnams are still at war. The war may be in remission, but the dangers still lurk. To cultivate a profitable tourist trade, an area depends heavily on its neighbors, and Vietnam's neighbors are themselves at war, or something related to war. They certainly are not at peace.

What it boils down to is that at the present time and in the foreseeable future, tourism development as a means to right South Vietnam's trade imbalance appears to be unrealistic.

If Thieu's government is to survive and rebuild the nation and move from a wartime to a peacetime economy, it will take massive doses of foreign aid — chiefly the American dollar. And Thieu cannot rely on an endless supply of dollars any more. The American reluctance to invest heavily in the reconstruction of Indochina applies to South Vietnam as well as Hanoi. That is fact, even though foreign aid, which is to say U.S. aid, may be the only factor which could bring lasting stability to the area.

It is an optimistic plan which Thieu offers to his people, but it rests on a shaky foundation.

Driver Slow-Down Asked

The Nixon administration's plan to ask the governors of the 50 states to take steps to reduce traffic speed limits in an effort to cut down gasoline use appears to be a pop-gun approach to fighting the fuel shortage. And it comes late in the game as well.

The hard driving season is upon us, leaving not much time to act for a n appreciable savings in motor fuel to be realized. Until the state legislatures take action, the administration is asking for a voluntary slow-down effort on the part of motorists and is requesting the states to strictly enforce existing speed limits.

Steven Wakefield, the Interior Department's assistant secretary for energy and minerals, has estimated that a speed reduction from 70 to 60 m.p.h. would mean an 11% increase in gasoline mileage, which could lower the demand by "as much as 5 or 6%," filling the gap between present supplies and demands. "It would be enough to avert a serious gasoline shortage nationwide," Wakefield said.

To attain the desired reduction in demand for gasoline, the positive action of the 50 state legislatures and strict enforcement all across the nation would be necessary. But for the most part it will depend on voluntary compliance by the individual motorist. Everybody is going to have to stay at 60 or under and that will be impossible to achieve.

But the demand might be lessened somewhat and so the administration's proposal is better than none at all. And it also might help cut down on highway accidents in which excessive speed is a factor. Thus the fuel shortage may be responsible for saving a few lives.

Press Assault Continuing

WASHINGTON — A contrite President Nixon told newsmen on April 30: "Continue to give me hell when you think I'm wrong." One week later, the Justice Department indicted Boston Globe reporter Tom Oliphant for accompanying a mercy mission, which attempted to drop food and medicine to the besieged Indians at Wounded Knee, S.D.

This appears to be a continuation of the relentless assault upon the press by the government at the same time that the President's communications aide, Herb Klein, is assuring influential editors: "We want a new relationship with the press."

Never in the nation's 200-year history has there been such a campaign of jailing, tailing, tapping, harassment and vituperation against reporters. Oliphant's mistreatment is merely the latest in a series of incidents.

Under the U.S. Constitution, newsmen are supposed to be free to pursue the news wherever they can find it. They have gone into enemy territory in time of war; they have taken great personal risks to keep the public informed.

In this spirit, the 27-year-old Oliphant covered the preparations for a three-plane mercy drop to the Indian militants. Then he went along on the flight and nearly lost his life in an accident. He wrote two exclusive stories about the event.

But Oliphant writes for the Boston Globe, a newspaper which displeases the White House. FBI agents, under orders from Justice Department representatives, obtained a warrant for his arrest.

First, they broke into his former home near Boston early in the morning and terrified the occupants who were still in bed. The FBI squad departed in confusion after discovering they had pounced upon the wrong house.

Oliphant, meanwhile, learned the FBI had located his new home in Washington and were preparing to descend upon it. While his wife and three children waited apprehensively, he rode a bus downtown and turned himself in.

On the basis of information from an informer whom some of the prosecutors now doubt, a federal grand jury was prodded by the Justice Department to indict Oliphant. The charge: He allegedly conspired to promote a "riot" by raining food and medicine on the Indians at Wounded Knee.

The key allegation against him is that he "had in his possession $10,000 for use in obtaining aircraft and food, medicine and other supplies." The truth is that the newsmen left to accompany the mission on such short notice that he had only eight dollars in his pocket and a credit card.

Yet Oliphant faces 15 years in prison if the Justice Department can find a jury to convict him. This is unlikely, since the prosecutors will have a hard time finding 12 American citizens who will convict a newsmen for reporting the news.

Oliphant was indicted even though the U. S. attorney for South Dakota, William Clayton, a GOP politician and ex-county prosecutor, had never even read his stories. In our talk with Clayton, he said it would be "im-

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I had surgery several months ago for a breast tumor that was malignant. The pathology report said no evidence of spread. I also had 20 cobalt treatments. I have now discovered a lump in the other breast. It is the same type of lump as the other, in the same location, directly under the nipple. If this is also malignant, does this mean they are related or spreading, or could there be another tumor elsewhere that is sending cells to the breast? — L. T.

I fervently hope that by the time you read this, you have already been examined and know whether the new lump is malignant or benign.

It is quite possible that the new lump is a simple cyst — I have known of just such a situation, a lump in each breast, one malignant, one not.

There is little likelihood of a spread from some remote source, because the spread from malignant tumors is usually to adjacent lymph glands or bone.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it harmful to take "bromos" constantly for indigestion? My husband has been doing it for years, and I've noticed that now I'm buying a "family size" bottle every two or three weeks. It is not from what he eats, but seems to be from smoking and drinking. When he quit smoking for several months four years ago he didn't require any. But when we've been to a party where there is drinking, he takes more. I've heard about bromide poisoning. Is this any reason to worry? — T. Y.

It is the alkali in the fizzy portion of such preparations that quiets the stomach. The bromide portion acts as a sedative, and yes, habitual use of bromides can be harmful, causing brominism, with such symptoms as sleepiness, lethargy, weakness, skin disorders. Bromides should be used within limits. It's not wise to let the habit become a fixed one.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I apply men's cologne on my skin about three times a day. Can that be dangerous? Also I have been told that if I wash my hair too much I will lose it gradually as I mature. I wash mine twice a week. Is that safe? — V. V.

No to the first question — unless you happen to be allergic to something in the cologne, but that would be obvious.

Second question: Certainly it's safe to wash your hair twice a week. If you lose any hair later, it won't be because you kept it clean.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 43, female, and overweight (5 feet 4 and 185 pounds) with high blood pressure and a smoking habit of 25 years' duration. I know I am going to have to do something soon but the thought of giving up food AND cigarettes at the same time paralyzes me to the extent that I do nothing at all. Logically it would seem that I should tackle the habit that is most harmful but which is it? What would you do? — Mrs. C. W.

In my opinion, controlling your weight should come first — but that doesn't mean you can't at least start cutting down on your smoking, since smoking undoubtedly also is contributing to your high blood pressure, too.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 33 and in the last few weeks have been bothered with a quick sharp pain in my left temple. It seems to occur when I bend over or exert myself, such as raising a window, etc. I am in seemingly good health. Is there an explanation? — Mrs. D. D.

It can indicate early temporal arteritis (inflammation of the artery in the temple). If so, there should be tenderness if you press on it. It may mean trigeminal neuralgia.

I suggest you have your doctor check it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What about these artificial sweeteners? Why should they be used only "by people who have to restrict their intake of ordinary sweets"? — Mrs. S. S. A.

The pure food laws require such a statement on items containing artificial sweeteners because, after all, sugar is a food. The artificial sweeteners do not provide any nourishment.

The phraseology does not, of course, specify why a person "has to restrict intake of sweets." That leaves it open for those who restrict sweets in order to lose weight.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Someone told me that celery could cause brain deficiency when eaten by females. Do you think this is true? — S. S.

That's utter nonsense, of course. I might have some question, though, as to the brain power of anyone peddling any such story.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Thanks to Sports Editor Hal Brown for the great tribute to Tom Brock, "More Than A Racing Loss."

Besides racing and his many activities, Tom as an individual had interest in Nebraska veterans and their wives, and others. I wrote an article once asking donations and contributions to the All-Faiths Chapel Fund drive, Nebraska Vets Home, at Grand Island, and in the mail came a nice check from Tom and his family, and a letter.

I wondered what I could do to repay him and so wrote a poem for Ak-Sar-Ben membership which Tom liked very much. He told me we would hold the poem for next year's drive.

Along with my last letter from Tom in March was a gift box with items for the home, which he hoped the men would enjoy. I treasure the pens sent to me by Tom and his words: "Keep up your work. In the meantime, I hope things are going well with you. All good wishes."

They say teenagers get too confused with their problems. I disagree. Teenagers will sometimes meet some problems, but they don't just look up their lives on problems. Today's youth problems are smoking, drinking, drugs and sexual activities. If anyone tries to give you the stuff, walk or run away from it no matter what it is. Tell them they are ruining your life and tell them to start caring. If you are wise, don't destroy your life by smoking, drinking and using drugs.

And don't say people don't care because they do. I go to Eastridge School where we are studying problems like these and what to do about them.

Friend, Neb.
I am sorry I have been so slow in thanking Dean Terrill for the story in the Star. Also, I was grateful for the letters from long-lost friends and also the business people of Lincoln who write such nice letters.

I love the work at the Veterans Hospital and thanks to Katherine and Margaret Stewart for taking me, escorts from the American Legion. Sometimes when the Stewart sisters can't go, my daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Johnson come for me and bring me home.

I sent 23 boxes of clothes away April 14, 660 pounds, and have four more boxes packed. I am still sewing carpet rags and have more rugs to sell.

So the Panhandle wants to secede from the rest of the state because the governor vetoed the bill that would have taken a "white elephant" off their hands.

Well, I think that we here in east and central Nebraska should not only condone this action but assist in every way possible.

Watergate Result

Lincoln, Neb.
There are more things between Heaven and Earth, Horatio... What is unsaid is more important than what is said.

The administration was so uptight about what happened in Chicago in 1968, they just couldn't forget it in 1971 and 1972. So there were elaborate plans made for counter-espionage on the Young Yippees, a group which the Republican fat cats could never fathom.

Needless to say, the Yippees and Panthers were shot by that time. They couldn't have mounted an offensive against a five-car carnival. The draft had seen to that. Youths with high numbers simply deserted the movement. So the Watergate was a result of what Republican fantasy was afraid would happen to their 1972 convention.

SELENIUM

Police State?

Lincoln, Neb.

Mayor Schwartzkopf's allotment of a large portion of the revenue-sharing funds to provide for more policemen is sure to turn the city into a ghetto where everyone will experience nothing but police harassment. Already lifetime citizens are stopped for "routine" ID checks by ambitious rookies. In fact, about one month ago, a resident of 60 years or more, one who was born here, was subjected to an embarrassing, dehumanizing ID check.

Instead of humane use of the funds, all of us will be subjected to needless police harassment and humiliation.

Contrary to our great moral leader, President Nixon, the decline in crime in 1972 was not due to more police power but to the humanizing of society by the New Frontier and Great Society programs.

However, due to his humane views and great concern for humanity, we will now be taking a step backward into the dark ages of a police state society.

Thank You

Lincoln, Neb.

During our open house at Burlington Northern's Havelock shops on May 12, we had several thousand well-mannered and pleased visitors. We were very pleased with the number and appreciation of our guests.

We want to thank all the news media for their help. Stories carried prior to May 12 were appreciated very much and helped fill our large parking lot to overflowing.

Our sincere thanks to all the friendly men and women who gave us fine assistance with the crowd and refreshments, including retired employees, other rail employees who do not work at Havelock and even non-rail members of employees' families, plus Havelock businessmen's and Lincoln Chamber of Commerce groups.

Fuel Shortages Spread; Many Farmers Without

By DOMINICK COSTELLO
Farm Editor

A Lincoln firm is one of six fuel suppliers who have run out of fuel, leaving about 2,000 customers, mostly farmers, short of fuel for tractors during good weather for planting the 1973 crops.

Clebert Steidley, manager of the Steidley Oil Co., which operates service stations at 300 O St., 2nd and O and at 5600 Superior, is completely out of fuel.

"We don't have any fuel and have no supply in sight. We have, about 200 farm customers and a few industrial users as well as our retail customers who will have to find fuel somewhere," he said.

Prices High

"Even if you can find a little fuel, it is priced so high you can't hope to interest farmers in it unless they are desperately short," he said.

Paul Sindt, executive director of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) in Lincoln, reported that six firms in the state were out or nearly out of fuel on Monday.

"Long Pine has only one station and they are out of fuel. The co-op at Ainsworth has 125 customers that are out of fuel in addition to the station at Long Pine which they supply," Sindt said.

Other towns with shortages include Scottsbluff, Juniata and rural dealers in Douglas and Sarpy Counties.

"The Midwest Supply Co. and the Elkhorn Oil and Propane Co., who operate in Douglas and Sarpy Counties, are out, leaving 375 farm customers on their own fuel reserves," he added.

Increase Unmet

The Juniata Co-op has 900 customers who have been getting as much fuel as they did last year, but the co-op is unable to meet increased needs due to the acreage expansion allowed under the 1973 farm programs.

"We understand that a federal fuel supply office has been established. Some 2 million gallons of diesel fuel are available from Gulf in Missouri and there is some fuel in Minnesota. I am working on what now to see if some of these supplies can be made available in Nebraska," Sindt said late Monday.

Farmers and dealers who have or anticipate shortages are being advised to contact local ASCS offices so that state and federal officials can be apprised of problems of fuel shortages.

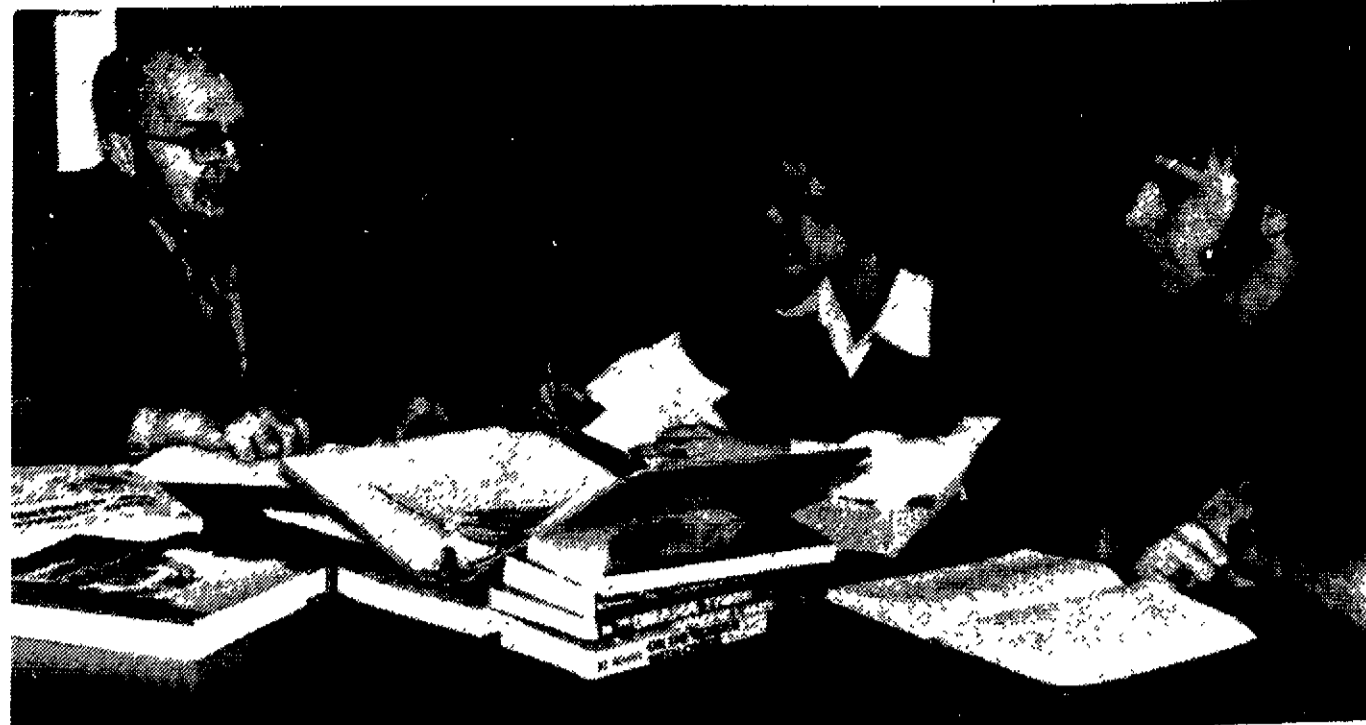

Improved weather conditions throughout the state have sent thousands of farm tractors into fields on a 24-hour-a-day basis, creating a sudden demand for fuel in all parts of the state at the same time.

No Fuel Bids Received By Buffalo County

KEARNEY, Neb. (AP)—No bids were received Monday on a contract to supply fuel for Buffalo County vehicles and equipment.

Highway Superintendent Jerry Carmen said the lack of interest apparently stems from the gasoline shortage. He said dealers and suppliers apparently are uncertain about future prices and therefore did not bid.

Carmen said the county will buy fuel at tank wagon prices as needed.

FAMILY AFFAIR ... Miles Cadwallader at school with son Bruce and daughter, Alice.

Dad, Kids Studying On Ag Campus

There were no sad good-byes in the Cadwallader family as the kids went off to college this year. Dad went right along with them.

Members of the Miles Cadwallader family of Oxford can be found all the way across the University of Nebraska-Lincoln East Campus. Miles, 54, returned to college this year to pick up a fifth year that World War II prevented him from taking 30 years ago.

Miles, who lives in Burr Hall dormitory, also has a son, a daughter and a son-in-law on East Campus.

Twenty-year-old Bruce lives in Ag Men cooperative and is a junior majoring in agricultural economics and poultry science. Currently president of Ag Men, he has also served as an ASUN senator from the College of Agriculture, and on the Ag Advisory Board. Bruce's plans include working for a poultry company in Maryland this summer.

Daughter Alice is a 19-year-old freshman living in Love Memorial Hall, a women's cooperative living unit. A food and nutrition major in the College of Home Economics, she hopes to eventually work with a government agency in helping the underprivileged, or go into research.

"You could say I'm following in my mother's footsteps, since she lived in Love when she was here," Alice comments, adding that her mother, Laura, and Home Economics College Dean Hazel Anthony were roommates for a semester.

Also on campus is son-in-law Steve Magnuson, originally from Alliance. The plant pathology graduate student is married to the former Mary Cadwallader. Mary is jokingly referred to as "the black sheep of the family" because she attended Kearney State rather than NU. However, she has since made amends now that Steve is attending NU. The two met in a biology lab at Kearney State while Mary was studying to become a medical technologist.

Son Graduated

Another son, Ralph, graduated from NU in 1970 in agricultural economics. Now with the US Army, he is stationed in Hawaii.

What prompted Miles to join the kids this year? Well, you might say he just got sidetracked 30 years ago. He graduated from the University in 1943, "at the tail end of both the dust storms and the Depression," he recalls.

His degree was in animal husbandry and general agriculture, but he always planned on taking a fifth year of agricultural education and agronomy. World War II interrupted his plans.

Since 1943, he has served in the Army, taught veterans, farmed and raised a crop of NU students. Just this year he got around to taking that fifth year.

Jumped Right In

And he certainly didn't go about it half-heartedly. The first semester he took the agricultural education "block," including six weeks of student teaching in Bassett. This past semester his classes included forages, soils, physics, meats judging and welding ("My hands aren't as steady and the weld may not look very pretty — but it'll hold").

By the end of the semester he was a member of the Alpha Zeta ag honorary, Alpha Tau Alpha ag education club, Block and Bridge, and the NU junior meats judging team. (Referring to today's carcasses, he states, "Those animals have sure changed since I went to school.")

Teaching veterans for another year is next on Miles' agenda, then teaching vocational agriculture in high school. He may also go back to their farm, which is now rented out, and try to raise its income through better management.

What's it like having nearly the whole family in college at once? "You should see the money disappear," Miles says, but the kids quickly point out that they each pay their own way.

At any rate, it's costing Miles more this time around. His first year in college cost him a total of $380, but his pay was also a meager 10 cents an hour. Contrast that with this year's room and board costs of over $1,000 and tuition fee of approximately $500.

Firemen Receive Awards

Grand Island (AP) — The Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben honored 12 firemen and four fire departments Sunday at the Nebraska State Fire School at Fanner Park here.

The Gering Fire Dept. received the top award in the fire prevention division. The department received an Ak-Sar-Ben plaque and $200 for the purchase of equipment.

Secondary awards of a plaque and $100 went to the Dodge, Valentine and Columbus volunteer fire departments.

Richard Gonka of Duncan and Samuel V. Gerber of Columbus received Ak-Sar-Ben's Heroism Award, which included a plaque and a $100 check for each.

Gonka saved the life of Mrs. Dorothy Unkel of Battle Creek when her car slid off the highway and overturned in a water-filled ditch. He also tried unsuccessfully to save Mrs. Unkel's daughter, Kathryn, who also was in the car.

Quick action by Gerber during a fire in a grain elevator saved the elevator and prevented an explosion and possibly injury to others at the scene.

Ten firemen received Ak-Sar-Ben plaques and $50 each with which to pay their expenses at the fire school.

They were A. J. Parascand.

Governor Is Critical Of 'Terrible Terry'

KEARNEY, Neb. (AP)—Gov. J. J. Exon Monday took several political slaps at State Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, and said that "for too long Sen. Carpenter has been running wild in the Legislature."

He accused other senators of being afraid of Carpenter's power.

Exon was on hand to dedicate an addition to the J. A. Baldwin Manufacturing Co.

"I believe with my help the other senators are beginning to get some backbone and recognize he (Carpenter) is only one senator and does not hold statewide elective office," Exon said.

"I suggest," Exon said, "that if the people could once realize what Sen. Carpenter does and how he does it, possibly some of the other senators might not be as afraid of 'Terrible Terry' as they have been in the past."

Exon and Carpenter have been at odds in recent months over the issue of the nowdefunct Hiram Scott College. Exon vetoed legislation that would have allowed the University of Nebraska to acquire the campus.

In other remarks, Exon called for a change in the State Banking Department, saying it needs "an ability to grant an emergency charter for a bank." He said he would introduce legislation to allow such action in the next legislative session.

He cited the State Bank of Elm Creek, recently declared insolvent, as an example.

Exon said he favored retaining the current method of hearings and applications for charters, but said the state should have the option to grant an emergency charter.

Doyle Is 'Optimistic' About Highway Aid

State Roads Department Director Tom Doyle reported he is "highly optimistic and encouraged" that Nebraska will receive additional federal highway funds in 1973.

He indicated it is "almost certain" that some funds will be forthcoming for 34 highway projects totaling about $16 million.

Doyle's report resulted from a discussion Friday with Acting Federal Highway Administrator Ralph Bartelsmeyer, and Doyle said he expects the state will be advised around June 1 about the funds' availability.

Nebraska has had a standing request for release of funds to complete the remaining portions of Interstate in western Nebraska and numerous other highway projects, Doyle said, noting the state is in a position to proceed with the projects when the money becomes available.

Gov. J. James Exon led a delegation to Washington, D.C., in March seeking release of additional highway funds and protesting their impoundment by the Nixon administration. It was in these meetings, Doyle said, that Nebraska's case was presented to Bartelsmeyer, congressional leaders and the secretary of transportation.

The Roads Department is proceeding on the assumption that additional funds will become available as requested, Doyle said, and that the department stands ready to put them under agreement at the earliest possible time.

Train-Truck Damage Estimated At $50,000

Mullen, Neb. (AP) — Authorities Monday estimated total damages caused by a train-cattle truck collision would come to some $50,000.

Authorities said 51-head of yearling cattle died when the truck in which they were riding was struck by a Burlington Northern freight train near Mullen Saturday.

The driver of the truck, Red Krave, 39, suffered a concussion and minor injuries, it was reported.

Damage to the train was estimated at $30,000 to $40,000.

Damage to the truck and loss of cattle was estimated at $16,000 it was reported.

Judge Refuses Case, Says Banker 'Liar'

KEARNEY, Neb. (AP)—District Judge Donald H. Weaver of Hall County was named Monday to preside in the suit by the Elm Creek State Bank against the State Banking Department.

Weaver was appointed by Buffalo County District Court Judge S. S. Sidner, who disqualified himself on the request of the plaintiff, Ron Bycroft of Gibbon, principal stockholder and board chairman of the bank.

The banking department had declared the bank insolvent and the bank filed suit.

Slayer Of Sioux City Doctor Is Sentenced

OLATHE, Kan. (AP) — A man already serving a life sentence for a slaying in Texas was sentenced to another life term Monday for the murder of a doctor from Sioux City, Iowa.

Lawrence R. Gross, 37, St. Louis, went through a five-minute preliminary hearing, elected to forego the customary 10-day waiting period and pleaded guilty in Johnson County District Court.

The victim of the slaying on Feb. 2, 1970, was Dr. George W. Rowney, a gynecologist at Sioux City. Dr. Rowney was attending a medical seminar at the University of Kansas Medical center and staying at a motel in Overland Park, Kan., a Kansas City suburb.

Dr. Rowney's body was found in his motel room. He was strangled with an electrical cord and stabbed more than 140 times.

After Gross pleaded guilty, prosecutors told Judge Harold Hammond that Gross had forged Dr. Rowney's name to some travelers' checks and cashed them.

Gross is to be returned to Huntsville, Tex., where he is serving a life sentence for the slaying of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Meyers of Dallas.

same objectivity in other cases involving my investments in previous actions. I undoubtedly would not have been in court Saturday. It seems strange that a man in Judge Sidner's judicial

Weekend Traffic Toll 5; One More Dies Monday

By The Associated Press

Weekend traffic accidents claimed five lives in Nebraska. A sixth person was killed early Monday.

The deaths raised Nebraska's highway fatality toll to 142, compared with 145 on this date one year ago.

Ellis B. Aloth, 56, of Sioux City, Iowa, was killed Monday when he was struck by a car while walking along a highway west of Sioux City, the State Patrol reported.

The driver of the car, 18-year-

Carpenter Rapped For Conflict Of Interest On Liquor Proposal

Omaha, (AP) — The weekly news conference of Omaha state senators brought a charge of conflict of interest on legislation which would end some cut rate liquor sales and equalize freight costs on shipments of wholesale liquor statewide.

The target of the charge by Sen. James Dickinson of Millard was Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff. Carpenter operates a liquor business as one of his many business enterprises.

In turn, Carpenter accused Dickinson of working for a trucking lobby and wholesale liquor dealers in trying to defeat his bill to equalize freight rates.

Dickinson said, "Carpenter maneuvered tremendously to get the bills passed" and said he believes he made a mistake in voting for LB366, which would require dealers to charge at least 15% more than they paid for each bottle of whisky, wine and beer.

Dickinson, a farmer, said he voted against the freight bill and intended to help prevent it from being passed. Both bills are ready for final passage.

Dickinson denied at the news conference working for truckers or liquor wholesalers and said he was against equalizing freight rates on the ground it was "socialistic and unfair to Omaha residents."

Carpenter had said that freight rates on liquor in Scottsbluff are about $4.84 a hundredweight compared with $1.25 in Omaha.

Other Omaha senators attending the news conference included George Syas, Richard Fellman and Duke Snyder.

All agreed that most senators have outside business interests that may be affected by legislation they are asked to consider.

Pellman said Nebraska has very "weak interest laws."

State Liquor Unit Overruled In Court Action

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—District Judge Keith Windrum Monday handed down his opinion to overrule a decision by the State Liquor Control Commission on the granting of an on-site liquor license to Starting Gate, Inc., of North Platte.

The city of North Platte appealed a Commission decision to grant the license to Starting Gate, contending it would violate city zoning codes.

Starting Gate operate a liquor store at the Westfield shopping center, and planned to open a liquor lounge, also.

The shopping center is in a residential area.

The Commission overruled the City Council's recommendation and granted the license. It again reject the Council's objection in a rehearing.

The Council then went to court.

La Vista won the Ed Burke Award for outstanding governmental affairs programs and also won the Giesenberg Sweepstakes Award as the outstanding state chapter.

The Mileston Award for outstanding first year chapter went to Waverly.

Holdrege took first place in the Bob Peterson Parade of Chapter Award. Lincoln was second and McCook and Elkhorn tied for third.

Dwaine Skope of O'Neill won the Charles Gabus Award as outstanding local president.

The Hugh McKenna Award for outstanding state chairman went to Gil Wilkinson of North Platte.

The Charles Thone Award for the outstanding state vice president went to Harold Kruse of Minden.

The Rex Haberman Award for outstanding U.S. Jaycee director went to Sam Seever of Superior. The Mrs. Jaycees elected officers. They are:

Omaha Jaycees To Continue Fight For Gals

Omaha (AP) — The president of Omaha Jaycees said Monday the chapter will continue to strive for full membership rights for women.

A women's membership resolution was overwhelmingly defeated at the state convention in Grand Island over the weekend.

President David Schenk said the Omaha chapter will try to give more rights to women in the organization but without going outside the mainstream of Jaycee policy.

Schenk said he hopes full membership rights for women will receive approval by all Jaycee organizations in the near future.

"At present," Schenk said, "a female can be an associate member of the Jaycees. She can participate in our programs and projects but she is unable to vote or hold office."

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

☆ By SIDNEY OMARR ☆

Forecast For Tuesday

Cancer I wish I had known. P.T. Barnum. He was a great American showman. He had the Moon and Venus in the zodiacal sign of Leo in his Second House. Even persons familiar only with elementary astrology would know from Barnum's horoscope that he would make money (Second House) through theatrical methods (Leo) which appealed to everyday people (Sun and Mars in Cancer). Barnum had Pluto in Pisces in the Ninth House, indicating ability to strike a universal chord of aroused curiosity. A study of his complete chart makes crystal clear why Barnum was the circus and why he was constantly able to keep his finger on the pulse of the public. He was born July 5, 1810.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Accent is on social activity of surprise and pleasant nature. You meet people and could go places. Some of your fantasies might be turned into actualities. Broaden horizons. Make travel plans. You are going to be happier!

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Progress is keynotes. So too is prestige and general gain. You have more responsibility as room is made for you at more elevated position. You may feel restricted as more tasks, assignments come your way. But it will be worth the effort.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Good lunar aspect now coincides with tourney's ability to communicate ideas, concepts. Submit formal advertising proposals. Be in touch with those at a distance. It is likely to be involved.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Accent is on mystery, special agreements, financial arrangement with male partner. Highlight greater harmony at home by agreeing to some concessions. By giving you also will receive. Know it—act accordingly.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Lie low. Let others take initiative. Your own judgment now is apt to be based on emotion rather than logic. Beware of over-reaction. If you actually exist. If this you do, you are ultimate winner.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Emotional pressure could mount. Key is to keep balance. Avoid extremes. Some may take advantage of your weakness. Work. Conversely you may be putting some on proverbial pedestal. Utilize past experience.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Spotlight is on creativity. How you deal with children how you relate to special members of opposite sex. As is in picture. You finish what you start. You draw more persons to you. Your popularity soars.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Evidence may exist for preternatural gifts. You seem capable somehow of making significant move at right time. Could involve property, home, special appliances. Leo individual may poke fun but it is all in fun.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Emphasis is on movement, short journey, special visit from close neighbor or relative. Home could become base of activity, operations. Cancer, Capricorn persons play prominent roles. Ideas flow and are tested.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You may be tempted to spend in wrong directions. Key is to go after it. You want and to go after it. This would be more constructive than scattering your forces. Secret contact will be meaningful.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Cycles and at the end of new starts, added independence. Check time points, data. Read between the lines and be aware of line or not. Your judgment is on target so do what you feel should be done.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Look behind the scenes for valid information. Be analytical. Puzzle pieces can be put together if you so desire. One who has not been entirely truthful might confess. Don't cast first stone.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are unique, one of a kind, separated from authority early in sense that you decided what you would be and how you would be it. You could have been psychologically estranged from family or you could have lost one of your parents at relatively early age. June should be your most significant month of 1973. You are dynamic, versatile and a natural leader.

Discover your love and money mates. Send birthdate and 25 cents to Omarr Astrology Secrets, The Lincoln Star, Box 3240, Grand Central Station, New York, N.Y. 10017. You'll receive Omarr's book, "Secret Hints for Men and Women."

Opening lead - queen of clubs.

When Sylvia first joined the club, she barely knew a spade from a hole in the ground. She thought a coup was something birds did, a pass something the boys made at girls, and a double something you saw in the mirror.

But this didn't stop her from playing in the expert game, where of course she was out-classed. Her unfamiliarity with the niceties of the game was at times shocking and naturally produced countless disasters, but at the same time this very ignorance occasionally resulted in an outstanding triumph that would be discussed by the membership at large for weeks on end.

Take this deal which occurred shortly after Sylvia learned to finesse. This newly found device was a fascinating revelation to her, and she relished each and every opportunity to use it with an unholly zeal that scared her partners half to death.

West led a club. Sylvia won in dummy with the ace, returned a trump, and finessed the jack! When this extraordinary gambit succeeded, Sylvia's expression of joy would have melted the heart of the Sphinx.

She later lost a heart, a diamond and a club, but made four spades.

East-West felt deeply aggrieved by the unaccustomed finesse, without which Sylvia inevitably would have gone down one. Yet, strangely enough, later analysis proved that Sylvia's play was correct and the only way to assure the contract.

Had the finesse lost to the singleton or doubleton queen, the contract would still have been firmly under control. The defense could cash a club and shift to a diamond, but declarer would win, cash a high trump, and play a heart to the queen and ace. South would then be able to discard a diamond on the king of hearts, using the three of spades as a sure-fire entry to dummy.

GARDEN-CHAPEL
MAUSOLEUM

To complement the present Garden Mausoleums nestled in the restful surroundings of Lincoln Memorial Park and to answer the requirements of those preferring the dignity, beauty and permanence of mausoleum interment for their loved ones, plans have been announced for the construction of a new Garden-Chapel Mausoleum. Here, families will be provided with the privacy and comfort of a beautifully appointed chapel for entombment services and a choice of either garden or chapel crypts.

Like the existing Garden Mausoleums and such famous monuments as the Taj Mahal in India and London's Westminster Abbey, the new Garden-Chapel Mausoleum will be built to forever endure the elements and ravages of time in providing a final resting place for your loved ones.

If, like many others, the dignity of mausoleum interment has special appeal to you, we invite you to send for a full color brochure describing our Garden-Chapel Mausoleum, along with information about our special pre-construction Charter Owners' program. There is no obligation. Simply complete and mail the coupon provided.

May Is Time For Weddings

Morgan-Muir

At a 3 o'clock ceremony on Sunday afternoon, May 20, the marriage of Miss Gay Alene Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Morgan of Omaha, to Jesse J. Muir, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Muir, also of Omaha, took place at the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. Paul Hallock solemnized the service.

Miss Nancy Sullivan was the bride's maid of honor and only attendant.

John Szczepaniak served Mr. Muir as best man.

Following a honeymoon trip to Florida and the Bahamas, Mr. Muir and his bride will live in Lincoln.

The bride was graduated last Saturday from the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Delta, and of Alpha Lambda Delta honorary. She majored in elementary education. In the fall she will be a member of the Unadilla public schools faculty.

Mr. Muir is a junior at the University of Nebraska. He is a member of Phi Eta Sigma honorary.

Pettett-Graff

Announcing plans this morning for a May wedding is Miss Nancy Pettett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean H. Pettett, whose marriage to Charles R. Graff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Graff of Bancroft, will be an event of Saturday, May 26. The 2 p.m. ceremony will be solemnized by Dr. Glover Leitch at the First Presbyterian Church.

Miss Pettett has named Mrs. James Krezinger as her matron of honor. Other attendants will include Miss Dixie Graff of Bancroft, bridesmaid, and Mrs. Gary Pettett of Denver, Colo., and Mrs. George Joy of Evanston, Ill., bridesmaids. Miss Kris Boyum and Miss Cheri Krogman will light the chancel candles.

Doug Brand of Fremont will serve the future bridegroom as best man and groomsmen will include David Macklin of Bancroft, Dr. Gary Pettett of Denver, Colo., and Wayne Rasmussen of Waterbury. Robert Cloy of Grant, Fred Bruning of Bruning and Dennis Hentzen of Seward will serve as ushers.

Miss Pettett is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Chi Omega sorority.

Mr. Graff also is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, where he is a member of Alpha Gamma Rho. He now is attending graduate school at the university.

York-Cunningham

On Sunday afternoon, May 20, the marriage of Miss Sherri Louise York, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Warren York, to Andrew Francis Cunningham, Ensign, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Cunningham, took place at St. Teresa's Catholic Church. The 3.30 o'clock ceremony was solemnized and the nuptial mass was celebrated by the Rev. Paul York, assistant rector at St. Mary's Church in David City, and an uncle of the bride.

For her attendants the bride chose her two sisters, Miss Mary Beth York as the maid of honor, and Miss Monica York, the bridesmaid.

Thomas Lonnquist served as best man, and the groomsmen and ushers were James Cunningham, brother of the bridegroom, Parviz Kamgar and Clay Rogers.

Ensign Cunningham and his bride will reside in Formula, Italy.

The bride was graduated last Saturday from the University of Nebraska. Ensign Cunningham also was graduated from the University of Nebraska, and has been attending the United States Navy Communications School at Newport, R.I. He will be assigned to the USS Springfield which is home based at Greta, Italy.

Coats-Zabel

The wedding of Miss Betty Coats, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Coats of Juniata, and Leonard Zabel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Zabel of Daykin, was solemnized at a 7 p.m. ceremony which took place on Saturday evening, May 5, at the Juniata Community Church. The Rev. James Walker officiated at the service.

The bride chose Miss Beverly Thompson of Topeka, Kan. to be her honor attendant, and the bridesmaids were Miss Rogene Coats of Juniata and Miss Colleen Dillon of Topeka. Mrs. Herb Jeys was bridesmatron.

Lyle Zabel of Philadelphia, Pa. attended Mr. Zabel as best man, and Herb Jeys and Ben Pickett seated the guests.

Mr. Zabel and his bride are residing in rural Daykin.

The bride was graduated from the Central Nebraska Technical College where she received a certificate in dental assisting. Mr. Zabel attended Fairbury Junior College and he is a member of the Nebraska National Guard.

Kraemer-Stokke

The wedding of Miss Marilyn Kaye Kraemer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. Walden Kraemer of Allen, and Jay Robert Stokke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stokke Jr., took place Saturday, May 5, at the St. John's Lutheran Church in Wakefield. The evening ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Donald E. Meyer.

Miss Kris Kraemer of Allen attended the bride as maid of honor with Miss Rebecca Messman, bridesmaid, and Mrs. Cindy Kraemer of Allen, bridesmatron.

Paul Swanson served the bridegroom as best man and groomsmen and ushers included Gregg Stokke, John Hydo, Steve Kraemer and Scott Stalling.

Mr. Stokke and his bride will reside at 3100 T. Lincoln.

Mr. Stokke is a graduate of Lincoln School of Commerce. She currently is employed with the General Tobacco and Candy Co.

Mr. Stokke has completed a tour of duty with the U.S. Marine Corp. and is now associated with Action Plumbing Co.

Faculty Women List Board

Board members of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Faculty Women's Newcomers Club have been announced by Mrs. Peter Huntoon, 1973-4 president.

New board members include Mrs. Helmer Sorenson, hospitality; Mrs. Gerald Boardman, hostess; Mrs. Roger Koehler, interest group; Mrs. Henry Mannie and Mrs. Marvin Spomer, membership; Mrs. Lawrence Perry, neighborhood hospitality; Mrs.

William Seiler, publicity; Mrs. Walter Manning, scholarship; Mrs. David Williams, style show; Mrs. Sidney Bourne and Mrs. Frank Hand, telephone; and Mrs. Alex Martin, yearbook.

The committee chairwomen were selected by the newly-elected officers — Mrs. Huntoon, Mrs. Kenneth Bader, vice president; Mrs. Stanton Harn, secretary; and Mrs. Lawrence Sundby, treasurer.

Miss Jean Forke Honored

That very popular bride-elect, Miss Jean Forke, whose marriage to Brent Boerkircher is on the calendar for June 9, was in the spotlight again on Friday when Mrs. Paul Amen and Mrs. Robert Hillyer were luncheon hostesses at the home of Mrs. Amen.

Following luncheon the afternoon was spent informally, and since all of her final exams were over, and since University of Nebraska classrooms and parties no longer had to share her interest, Miss Forke could relax and enjoy the party and the guests.

Boss' Messages

DEAR ABBY: If you feel that a private secretary should not sit in judgment of her boss' private affairs, then she should not be imposed upon to take insignificant, petty messages from his girl friend. After all, a secretary is employed to support the welfare of the business her boss represents.

No one should be asked to lie, and a secretary should feel remorse when she has to tell lies for her boss.

Your second offense was to inform that secretary that this is one of her secretarial duties. It is NOT!

OUT OF THE MIDDLE
DEAR OUT: And what if the boss owns his own business? A secretary is paid to convey messages to and from her boss, whatever they may be, and whether the message is from a business associate, his wife, or girl friend is none of her business. If she feels "remorse" when she tells a caller that her boss is "tied up" when he is not — or that he is "out" when he is busy, she has the privilege of finding a job that's more to her liking.

DEAR ABBY: My husband divorced me last December, and now he says he wants his rings back. Should I return the rings, or am I entitled to keep them? I once heard that possession is nine points of the law. Does that still hold true?

NEEDS TO KNOW

DEAR NEEDS: I made a deal with the legal profession: They won't write advice columns, and I won't practice law. Ring up your lawyer and ask him what to do about your rings.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Miss Nancy Louise Pope daughter of Mr and Mrs Harvey E. Pope of Gibbon, became the bride of Philip R. Burbach son of Mr and Mrs Raymond J. Burbach at the United Methodist Church of Shelton on Saturday afternoon, May 19.

The maid of honor was the bridegroom's sister, Miss Patricia Burbach and the bridesmaids included Miss Anita Quinn of Lodgepole and Miss Sharon Reeder of Shelton. Mrs. James Woodward was bridesmatron.

Dave Juhan of San Diego, Calif. was best man and groomsmen were Frank Tworek of Omaha and Mr. Burbach's brothers Joe Burbach and John Burbach. Ushers were Ruck Pope of Ravenna, Mark Hadenfeldt of Shelton, Bill Burbach and Steve Burbach.

Following a wedding trip through the western United States, Mr. Burbach and his bride will live in Lemon Grove, Calif.

Mrs. Burbach is a 1973 graduate of Kearney State College where she majored in education.

Mr. Burbach serves with the U.S. Navy and is stationed in San Diego, Calif.

Mrs. Richard Willis

The marriage of Miss Catherine Ann Danahy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Eugene Danahy, to Richard Wayne Willis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wright Willis of Omaha, was solemnized at a 3:30 p.m. ceremony at St. Teresa's Catholic Church Saturday, May 19. The Rev. John Meeka read the lines of the service.

The bride's attendants were Miss Elva Berryman, the maid of honor, and bridesmaids Miss Pam Field, Miss Jayne Andrews, both of Omaha, and Mrs. Pat Willis.

Lt. William Bauer of Altus, Okla., served as best man, and the groomsmen and ushers included Thomas C. Cook of Houston, Tex., Thomas Moore, Richard K. Armstrong, David Danahy and Greg Richter, Steven Schatz and Terry Fittie.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis will live in Lincoln.

The bride is a former student at the University of Nebraska. Mr. Willis is a graduate of the University of Nebraska College of Business Administration and is a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

Mrs. James Douglass

At a 6:30 o'clock ceremony which was solemnized on Saturday evening, May 5, the marriage of Miss Rita Lyn Jacox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew P. Jacox of Milford, to James W. Douglass, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Douglass of Columbus, took place at the First United Presbyterian Church in Seward.

The bride chose Miss Linda Ficken of Lincoln to be her maid of honor, and Mrs. Lawrence Jacox of Waukegan, Ill., and Mrs. Stanley Jacox of Milford were bridesmatrons. Miss Kathi Douglass of Columbus was bridesmaid.

Charles Rogers of Council Bluffs, Iowa, served Mr. Douglass as best man, and Dennis Hansen of Kearney, Kurt Koch of Shickley and Ronald Sedlak of Columbus were groomsmen.

The couple will reside in Columbus.

The bride was graduated from Kearney State College where she is affiliated with Chi Omega sorority. She will be teaching near Columbus.

Mr. Douglass also was graduated from Kearney State and presently is an Information Specialist for the Nebraska Public Power District. His fraternity is Sigma Tau Gamma.

YWCA To Give Book Review

Helen Clapesattle's recent book "The Doctors Mayo" will be reviewed by Mrs. Julius Humann at the Central YWCA, 1432 N. St., at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Mrs. Harley McCord is chairman of the Book Review Committee which will sponsor the event.

The program will be preceded by a 9:30 a.m. coffee with hostesses Miss Florence J. Atwood, Miss Lenora Larsen, Mrs. Albert Johnson, Mrs. E.

W. Johnson, Mrs. Melvin Olson, Mrs. C. C. Pelikan and Mrs. James L. Way. All interested persons are welcome to attend the book review and coffee.

Business Women's Association To Present Two Scholarships

The Lincoln Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association will present scholarships to Miss Julie L. Marolf and Miss Sheila Schmidt at a dinner meeting to be held at Sunnybrook Restaurant, 745 So. 11th St., on Tuesday evening.

Miss Marolf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Marolf of Waverly, is a student at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln College of Law and Miss Schmidt, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Schmidt of Riverton, is a sophomore at the UNL College of Pharmacy.

Mayor To Begin Talks On State Office Building

By LYNN ZERSCHLING
Star Staff Writer

Construction of the $20 million state office building moved one step closer with the City Council Monday authorizing the mayor to begin negotiations on the project with the State Building Commission.

The structure will be erected on land between 14th and 15th, from I. to M. Parking facilities will be located on two half-blocks adjacent to the building.

The land previously was acquired by the city in 1969 for a state office building.

Action Put Off

However, the project was stricken by the Legislature, which held off action until this session when LB447 was approved.

That measure authorizes the state to use the city's bonding authority to construct the building. In turn, the city will be repaid out of state cigarette tax revenues.

The council also retained financial consultants and a bond counsel to work on the project.

In other business, the new council with its three new members — Sue Bailey, Max Denney and John Robinson — approved an interlocal cooperation agreement with the county whereby the city's Building Inspections Division will issue building permits for structures located in Lancaster County.

One-Half Fee

Superintendent of Building Inspections Charles Seale reported that under the agreement, county residents will be charged one half the fee city residents pay.

Seale added that the policy will be reviewed in 90 days to see how the program is working out.

The council also delayed action one more week on the application of Davis Theatres to construct a three-screen drive-in theater at Yolande and Cornhusker Hwy.

Hearing Held

Additionally, the council held a public hearing on the application of William Kimball Joyce Ayres and Richard Smith for a change of zone from E-1 Multiple to F Restricted Commercial on the southeast corner of 13th and G.

Attorney Dick Spangler reported that the developers want to either build onto the present office building on the site or construct a new building. The building on the corner is the former Medical Arts Building.

Spangler said that originally the land was zoned for commercial business, but that in 1970, the land was rezoned to multiple. That change was made when a new zoning district was created.

Won't Pay Fee

In further business, Bill Cooley, the mayor's administrative assistant, reported that the city no longer will pay the fee to tow away junk cars.

Cooley's report came in response to a complaint registered by Jack Singer of Singer Boys Auto Parts. Singer contended that some individuals are getting their junk cars towed away by the city free of charge, after they have sold the parts off the vehicle.

Cooley said the city's policy of removing junk cars has been abused by the same individuals and noted that if people want to have a junk vehicle towed away, they'll have to pay the charge.

However, he said the mayor's office still will take complaints on junk cars. The complaints will be referred to the police department which will notify the junk car owner that the vehicle is in violation of the law. If the car is not removed within 30 days, the city will initiate legal action, Cooley said.

In other business, the council placed on pending three applications which had been held over from the previous council — two applications for shopping centers at 56th and Old Cheney Rd. and at 84th and O and the revision of the mobile home court standards.

The council also

NU Professor Lux Is Elected New School Board President

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

A University of Nebraska education professor, John Lux Monday was elected president of a newly constituted Lincoln Board of Education.

Lux, who succeeds Marvin Stewart as board president, was elected by fellow board members after a swearing-in ceremony for two recently elected members.

They are Pearl Goldenstein, and Louis Roper.

The swearing-in and officer election took place at a brief evening meeting at the Public Schools Administration Building.

Elected board vice president to succeed Lux was Ted Dewey.

Dewey, a northeast Lincoln banker, is a holdover member by appointment who was elected to the post for the first time earlier this month.

John Prasech, Lincoln superintendent, was re-elected executive secretary of the board.

In other matters, three former board members were honored with special plaques for their years of service.

The three are Robert Magee, who resigned last year and was replaced by Dewey, and Edward Copple and Robert Wekesser, both of whom chose not to run for re-election this spring.

All three had served on the board since the early or mid-1960s.

In business-related matters, Associate Supt. Robert Den Hartog told the board that the last state aid payment to the Lincoln School district brought to $3,447,743 the amount of state support received this year through the state aid program.

That amount, said Den Hartog, would've required another 84 mills from local property taxes if it had been raised from local sources.

Den Hartog also noted however that the school district could have received an additional $5.5 million if the state aid law had been fully funded this year.

The total would have been the equivalent of 21.8 mills, rather than 8.4, said Den Hartog.

Den Hartog also said that the district has received $397,485 from homestead exemption tax payments. Another $11,000 is due for the current fiscal year.

The Lincoln schools receive nearly 59% of the local share of the homestead payments distribution of which is based on the local mill levy distribution among taxing units.

Hearing Scheduled On Revenue Sharing

A public hearing on proposed uses for the city's share of federal revenue sharing funds will be held at 7 p.m. June 12 in the City Council Chambers.

The hearing date was set by the City Council Monday.

The hearing will cover uses for funds received from four entitlements. The first two checks amounted to $1.7 million, while the third check was for $954,141.

U.S., Philippines Negotiating Treaty

Manila (UPI) — The Philippines and the United States have begun preliminary talks on an extradition treaty, the Philippine foreign office announced. The Philippines has been pressing for a treaty to secure the return of persons implicated in an alleged rightist conspiracy to assassinate President Ferdinand Marcos.

The fourth entitlement will cover the period from July 1973 to July 1974, bringing to over $3.6 million for the amount of revenue sharing funds to be budgeted for the city's fiscal year beginning Sept. 1.

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf previously submitted a list of projects he would like to see funded with the third revenue sharing check. A list must be submitted to the Treasury Department by June 20.

However, the council has final authority to accept or change the mayor's recommendations at budget time.

10 Receive Kidney Transplants Through State Plan

By BOB GUENTHER
Star Staff Writer

Ten Nebraskans, who six months ago were suffering from the final stage of renal disease, are today leading normal lives with the help of transplanted kidneys financed through a state program.

The renal disease program, which was funded with $140,000 appropriated by the 1972 Legislature, has reached a total of 45 patients since it began Nov.

1, 1972, according to Richard Beck, the director of the program for the State Health Department.

The ten, who were fortunate enough to be given transplants, range in age from 14 to 65, and have gone home to live "500% better," in Beck's words, than they were under dialysis treatment. All of the transplants were successful, he said.

In addition to allowing patients to eat normal diets, transplants are also preferable from the cost angle, Beck said. A kidney transplant costs between $13,000 and $15,000; the dialysis treatment costs $2,000 per month for the average patient and involves cumbersome equipment.

The remainder of the patients are receiving dialysis treatments until a kidney donor becomes available. Beck reported that approximately half of the transplants thus far have come from living relatives of the patients.

Beck said the outlook for cadaver donors is "picking up" as more people become aware of renal disease and their ability to aid renal disease sufferers.

But, he added, "We still need more public education" concerning the need for donors.

Thus far no one with the final stage of renal disease has been denied treatment under the state's program, because in Beck's words Nebraska has a "very liberal" program. There are no age exclusions, he said; people between the ages of 10 and 67 are participating in the program. And people are not disqualified for other medical afflictions as they are in some states, he said.

The primary criteria are that the patient is certified to have end stage renal disease and meets certain financial criteria. For instance, a member of a family of four earning $10,000 per year would be eligible for 100% state reimbursement.

Beck reported that approximately $88,000 remain in the fund, since some of the cost for the transplants and dialysis was paid for by insurance companies, Medicare and welfare.

Beginning July 1, the program will be taken over by the Medicare and anyone who is enrolled in Social Security will be eligible, Beck said.

Since there will be a three month waiting period for the Medicare treatment, Beck said the state's program will be continued for those who are ineligible.

CSHS Gets Finance Rundown

The Citizens for Survival of Human Services (CSHS) heard Jim Mallon, city finance director, give an explanation Monday night of how the city budgets its money and how this process can best be influenced.

The CSHS group is primarily concerned with influencing the expenditure of funds for human services rather than capital construction and also with finding alternative sources of funds for human services in the event federal cutbacks are made in present programs.

The group questioned Mallon on how more of the city's money can be directed toward housing, but he said the city does not have legal authority to spend money on housing. That authority rests with the Housing Authority, he said.

As to federal revenue sharing funds, Mallon said the city can spend it any way that it legally can, but if the boundaries of legal authority are overstepped, the city has to "pay the money back 110%."

Lana Balka gave a report on the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) and said applications had been made to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for Head start and alcoholism program funding.

Bruce Hamilton, of the Lincoln Legal Aid Program, reported that legal programs are in much better shape than other human services programs falling under OEO.

He said President Nixon introduced a Legal Services Corporation Bill to Congress that would continue funding for legal aid services at the level of the previous fiscal year for the next fiscal year.

However, he reported, the actions of lawyers under the program would be considerably restricted if the bill passes in its present form.

In particular, he noted that legislative advocacy by lawyers working for the group would be abolished except at public hearings and then only if they were invited to appear at the public hearing.

A report on Title 4A funds was given by Greta Hageman. She said that by the middle of June "we hope to know better on where we stand on the funds."

Title 4A funds deal with a consortium of social services to assist people on welfare, those formerly on welfare and potential welfare recipients to help themselves achieve a better standard of living.

Child care and mental retardation are two of the more important areas Title 4A funds cover. Title 4A is operated under the Social Security Act.

However, she said restrictions have been considerably tightened in 1973 so that 90% of the money must now go for present welfare recipients.

Governor Signs Bill Aiding Amos Family

By The Associated Press

Gov. J. James Exon Monday signed into law a bill providing financial assistance to the family of a slain State Patrol trooper and urged the legislature to pass a bill calling for lengthy prison terms for persons who assault law officers.

Exon signed LB585, which passed the legislature last week. The bill provides $14,000 to the family of George Amos Jr., who was shot and killed last month after stopping a car on Interstate 80 near Lexington.

LB585 provides for trust funds of $4,000 each for Amos' two sons with the money to go for their college education, while the other $7,000 goes to Amos' widow.

Exon said he was "pleased to sign LB585, but called on the legislature to pass LB574, an

Teachers' Benefits Increased

Gov. J. James Exon signed into law Monday a pair of bills with a $1.6 million price tag allowing increased retirement benefits for teachers.

The bill, LB445, and a companion funding measure will particularly benefit teachers who have retired in past years on a constitutionally limited pension while the cost of living and retirement benefits for teachers who subsequently retired have risen.

Exon said the retired teachers "are being unfairly taken advantage of by the skyrocketing cost of living."

Voters approved a constitutional change permitting the increased benefits at the 1972 general election.

Exon-sponsored bill to provide prison terms of up to 50 years for assaulting or killing law officers.

The bill, which has been sponsored by the governor the past two years, is being held by the judiciary committee following a ruling by the attorney general which questions its constitutionality.

The attorney general's office said the legislature cannot pass a bill restricting the constitutional authority of the state Pardon Board to alter prison sentences.

The bill "would have a significant positive effect even if the attorney general's opinion is valid," said Exon in a letter to Sen. Roland Luedtke of Lincoln, chairman of the committee.

"If a change is needed in the Constitution, then the legislature could easily approve a constitutional amendment in addition to LB574 which the voters could consider to correct any constitutional difficulties," Exon said.

Such a law is needed "to provide possible additional protection for law enforcement officials and guards who daily are exposed to possible acts of violence and loss of their lives," the governor said.

GERING, Neb. (AP) — Searchers moved about one mile along the swollen North Platte River Monday looking for a 31-year-old Nebraska man who was missing and presumed drowned following a weekend boating accident.

Missing since a canoe he was in overturned Saturday was Dennis Loudenklos of Scottsbluff, whose companion escaped the

$2,000 Given To Open Door Health Center

The Lancaster County Chapter of the March of Dimes has awarded a $2,000 grant to the new Open Door Health Center in Lincoln to help support pre-natal and neo-natal health programs.

John Glynn, chapter president, said the center "is attempting to provide a needed service in our community." Glynn said he hopes the grant will aid the center in handling "problems faced by the expectant woman in Lincoln."

During the first 21 days of the center's operation at 1915 U. 42 women sought pregnancy-related information and 19 received transportation to physicians' offices and their agencies.

The center served a total of 205 persons during the same period.

Mrs. Cherita Richardson, center director, said the health center is helping to insure that quality medical care is available to any pregnant woman in Lincoln.

The center opened in late March with a $5,000 mini-grant from the Nebraska Regional Medical Program.

LBJ's Prized Herefords Sold

STONEWALL, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson sold the former president's prized Hereford cattle Monday with a note of sadness but an air of festivity.

"We had 20 years of enjoyment," Mrs. Johnson told close to 700 would-be cattle buyers and spectators gathered under a bright yellow and red tent for the dispersal auction of Johnson's herd.

Lyndon started buying cattle soon after we first moved here 20 years ago... This was Lyndon's love. But the time has come to sell."

The first consignment, a Hereford cow with bull calf, went to Wimpy Ray, a Georgetown, Tex., rancher, for $1,500 after a round of spirited bidding.

"I raise Charolais (cattle), but I had to have this," he said with a broad smile.

A total of 213 cattle was sold during the 4½-hour auction, bringing in $140,560.

Percy Lindner of Comfort paid the most for a single purchase, $2,650 for a bull Farth Cattle Co. of Houston bought the largest total consignment, purchasing 15 head for $14,325.

Sales workers said cattle buyers from 14 states, Puerto Rico and Mexico came to this small central Texas village 65 miles west of Austin, to bid on the herd's 33 bulls and 129 cows, 52 of them with calves. A country music combo, "The Sundowners," serenaded during the cattle inspection period and there was beer and barbecue for everyone before the afternoon bidding began.

Judge To Remove Self From Whittred Dispute

PAPILLION, Neb. (AP) — Sarpy County District Judge Ronald Reagan said he will disqualify himself from a case involving Sheriff Richard Whittred.

Reagan said his next move will be to contact Judge Tom White of Columbus to hear the case and to set an early trial date.

Whittred has filed a denial to a suit by County Attorney Dixon Adams asking for his removal.

Adams maintains that Whittred should be removed because he has been convicted of perjury.

Dixon said under state law, the office of sheriff is vacant because any office holder convicted of a felony automatically vacates the offices.

Adams said, though, there is some "confusion" in this case because the federal judge in Whittred's perjury case suspended the sentence and placed the sheriff on probation.

Special Intelligence Unit 'Not For Political Purpose'

WASHINGTON (AP) -- The White House said Monday it had a special intelligence unit created in the Justice Department in 1970 to evaluate information about radical organizations. Gerald L. Warren, the deputy White House press secretary, said the unit still exists, but emphasized "it was not created for political purposes."

He said it was organized after President Nixon expressed concern about the evaluation of domestic intelligence involving radical and antiwar groups.

Warren said "it is very possible" that John W. Dean III, then White House counsel, and John J. Caulfield, once on Dean's staff, could have had contact with the unit. Both have been implicated in Watergate testimony.

Meanwhile, spokesmen for 1972 Democratic presidential candidates said they were not offered and did not ask for the kind of reports the Justice Department acknowledged providing James W. McCord Jr. when he was security chief for Nixon's re-election committee.

The department said the data provided McCord dealt with potential civil disturbances. A Justice Department spokesman said, however, that top Democratic party officials were offered a report on potential disturbances at the national conventions.

That briefing came after the Watergate burglary and arrests on June 17, 1972.

McCord, arrested and convicted in the Watergate conspiracy, has testified he understood the kind of information he got from the Justice Department was available to the Democratic party.

The Justice Department spokesman said intelligence information about potential disturbances was available to Wesley Pomeroy, who was chairman of the Democrats' advisory committee on convention security. Pomeroy said Monday he did not try to get information from the department's internal security division.

Spokesmen for Sens. George McGovern, Edmund S. Muskie, Hubert H. Humphrey and Henry M. Jackson, and Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace all said no Justice Department reports were offered, requested or received by those 1972 candidates.

We're finding new gas supplies.

We promise to keep that quiet, efficient blue flame burning at your house. Cooking your food, heating your water, drying your clothes, heating and cooling your home.

And, that's not an idle promise. We have opened new gas supply and exploration offices. We have intensified our gas buying and exploration efforts in our traditional supply area in the southwestern United States. We are looking hard for new gas supplies in some far away places like the north slope of Alaska and the Arctic Islands. And, in 1972, we tapped a new source of supply by bringing gas in from Montana.

This intensive quest for gas costs a lot of money, but it's worth it. And, the efficiency of gas will keep its costs below that of most of the other forms of energy.

So, there's no reason why you shouldn't buy a new gas water heater, a new gas range, a new gas heating or cooling system, and continue to enjoy the benefits of gas.

Sooner Jokes Replace Aggie Jokes

Any time groups of people gather, the primary subject for joke-telling are the Polish, Bohemians or Aggies.

At last weekend's Big Eight Outdoor Track and Field, and Golf Championships, plus meetings of the faculty reps, athletic directors and coaches of most sports, Oklahoma and its recent transcript altering actions took all the pressure off the Poles, Bohemians and Aggies.

Sooner jokes are the latest rage among Big Eight sports folks. Such as:

OU publicist Johnny Keith lamenting, "I don't know whether it was something I said or what, but the bowl people who are here don't seem to have much interest in we people from Oklahoma any more."

Colorado publicist Mike Moran telling a group that Keith had a dog which he thought was a purebred, "But then he found out the dog's papers had been altered."

An announcement was made during the media-coaches golf tournament that no one from Oklahoma would be allowed to keep score.

Winner's Purse Held Up

And when Oklahoma athletic director Wade Walker came in with the low score, a 73, Kansas State sports information director Dev Nelson, serving as the tourney director, announced that Walker's prize was being held up.

"Colorado coach Eddie Crowder has filed a protest, claiming that Walker cheated," Nelson announced, referring to a charge made earlier this spring that Crowder was the one who turned Oklahoma in for the recruiting violation, a charge denied by Crowder.

Speaking of turning in, the response of some in that direction is one thing that isn't funny about the Oklahoma situation.

In every infractions case, it seems that some folks — mostly fans — seem to be more interested in prosecuting the tattle-tale than in the prosecution of the culprit.

To their credit, Oklahoma officials have not participated in the game of trying to find out "who turned us in," and when OU faculty representative David Swank was asked if he knew, his response was, "No, and I don't care."

But there are many Sooner fans who do care and that's one of the sad things.

Hiding Behind Signboards

That's akin to those Nebraska senators, who were worried about State Patrolmen hiding behind signboards to catch speeders.

They're more concerned about getting that patrolman out in the open where the guy going 100 miles an hour can spot him than they are about the speeder maybe killing someone a few miles down the road.

Or it's like making the fellow who calls the police when he sees a crime being committed more of a wrongdoer than the culprit committing the crime.

Would the same fan, who wants to know, "who was the dirty squealer that turned us in," sit on his front porch and watch as burglars carried furniture from his neighbor's house?

Would he simply walk on by as if he had seen nothing if he were to come upon a young girl being molested?

Being an athletic fan sometimes makes strange people out of otherwise good citizens.

WILLIAMSON TOPS FIELD

... Four Qualify In Local Meet

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Two club professionals, who don't figure to get in much practice time before Sectional Qualifying rounds, and an amateur, who does, led qualifiers Monday in Local Qualifying for the U.S. Open at the Lincoln Country Club.

Bud Williamson Jr., who grew up on the LCC links where his father, Bud Sr., was the head professional, led a field of 26 Monday with a two-over-par 146 for the 36-hole test, the first step toward getting into the final field of 150, who will tee it up in the U.S. Open at Oakmont, Pa., June 14-17.

Joining Williamson in advancing to sectional qualifying were John Frillman, head pro at Omaha's Happy Hollow Country Club with a 147, and amateurs Tom Sieckman of Millard with 147 and Rick Schultz of Omaha with 149.

Schultz birdied the first hole of a sudden-death playoff to defeat University of Nebraska teammate Steve King for the fourth spot.

A golfer coming out of the Local Qualifying at the Lincoln Country Club hasn't made it to the Open proper since 1965 when Omahan Bob Astleford made it into the final field of 150 at St. Louis.

The timing of the U.S. Open is particularly poor for the club professional. Frillman has made it to the Sectional Round in seven of the last eight years. "I've been going to St. Louis for the Sectionals," Frillman explained Monday. "And you run into a lot of touring pros there."

"I made eight straight birdies there last year and missed qualifying by one stroke."

This year Frillman will go to Kansas City where he figures things might be a little easier. "I think I'll have a better chance there," he noted.

But he and Williamson, the head pro at the Lochland Country Club in Hastings, face a common problem that all club pros face.

"This is the busiest time of year for a club pro," Williamson explained. "I've got a lot of events coming up at my club in the next couple of weeks."

Williamson will go to Denver for his Sectional Qualifying round.

"I've got to see if they'll let me play a practice round on Sunday (June 3)," he pointed out. "because I won't have time to practice before that."

Sectional Qualifying is June 4.

Sieckman and Schultz will both go to Kansas City for Sectional Qualifying.

The Lincoln Country Club yielded only one sub-par 18-hole round Monday, a one-under-par 71 by Sieckman, and only three golfers were able to break par for nine holes.

Sieckman, Schultz and King all recorded 35s on the front nine.

Gross Captures Third Straight State Title

By MIKE JOHNSON
Star Sports Writer

Omaha Gross pitchers Joe Stanek and Jim Kantor have done it again.

The senior duo combined wins in the State Class B baseball tournament Monday afternoon at the NU Diamond for the third consecutive year to pace Gross to its third straight crown in five years of the school's existence.

Stanek, who has won the championship game each of the last three years, pitched a three-hit shutout in the title game to help the Omahans past Bancroft, 5-0.

Kantor, who has wins in the first game of the state tourney for three consecutive years, pitched a two-hit shutout to down Wayne, 7-0 in the semifinals.

Secretariat Preakness Time Changed

BALTIMORE (AP) — Secretariat still hasn't run the fastest Preakness but an adjusted time Monday did give him the second fastest clocking — a change that failed to excite his trainer.

After a meeting, the Pimlico stewards announced that Secretariat's winning time in Saturday's 98th Preakness had been officially set at 1:54 2/5 for the 1 3/16 miles.

NU's Swanson To Be Inducted

NEW YORK (UPI) — Twelve players of the pre-1920 era were named Monday to a special niche in the National Football Foundation's College Football Hall of Fame.

Zisk's Single Carries Pirates Over Phillies

By the Associated Press

Pinch hitter Richie Zisk singled in the ninth inning, driving in Gene Alley with the winning run Monday night, lifting the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 5-4 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Phils had staked starting pitcher Steve Carlton to a 4-0 lead in the third inning, but the 1972 National League Cy Young Award winner couldn't hold it.

Pittsburgh's Willie Stargell hit his 12th home run of the season in the fourth, winning pitcher Steve Blass hit a runscoring single in the fifth and Manny Sanguillen tied it with a two-run homer in the sixth. All the runs came off Carlton, last year's 27-game winner who is struggling with a 4-6 mark this season.

Alley opened the ninth with a single off losing pitcher Mac Scarce, 0-2. He moved to second on a sacrifice and scored when Zisk, batting for Blass, came through with his single.

In the only other National League game, the San Francisco Giants whipped Houston 9-4 in a nationally televised contest. The Chicago Cubs' game at Montreal and St. Louis' game against the Mets in New York were rained out.

In the American League, Boston beat Baltimore 4-1, Cleveland came from behind and defeated the New York Yankees 10-5 and Oakland blanked Kansas City 5-0.

Chris Speier hit a two-run triple in San Francisco's fourth run first inning and slammed a two-run homer in the seventh. Gary Maddox and Ed Goodson also homered for the Giants and Jim Wynn homered for the Astros.

Luis Aparicio drove in two runs with a two-out, bases-loaded single in the seventh inning for the Red Sox, who added two runs in the ninth. Luis Tiant gave up one run in the first inning on a double by Al Bumbry and a single by Boog Powell, then shut out Baltimore for two hits the rest of the way.

The Yankees scored four runs off Gaylord Perry in the second inning, but Perry survived the onslaught and went on to pitch a complete game. The Indians tied the score in the bottom of the second and went ahead for good on George Hendrick's two-run homer in the third.

Jim "Catfish" Hunter raised his record to 5-2, pitching an eight-inning shutout against the Royals. Deron Johnson hit a two-run homer for Oakland in the ninth.

Angels Recall Brooks

Anaheim (AP) — The California Angels recalled outfielder Bobby Brooks from Salt Lake City Monday, replacing Bobby Valentine on the American League team's roster.

But Laurin added, "Actually, I'm not too upset because he still won the Preakness and that's what counts."

Secretariat, syndicated earlier this year for a record $6,000,000, is scheduled to be retired to stud on Nov. 15.

The stewards approved the change after viewing tapes of the race, and being told that Pimlico's official timer, E.T. McLean Jr., had recorded the 1:54 2/5 with a stopwatch.

McLean serves as a backup for the electric timer, and during the current Pimlico meeting the two sources have agreed on all but two occasions.

McLean reported those two discrepancies to stewards, and his times were noted officially on the racing charts. On Saturday, however, McLean failed to report his clocking.

"I can't get mad at McLean," said Charles J. "Chick" Lang, general manager of Pimlico. "He's a capable dedicated worker."

As paddock judge, McLean sent the six Preakness starters to the track, timed the race from a porch outside the jockey's quarters near the finish line, and then hustled across to the infield to weigh out winning jockey Ron Turcotte.

The Visumatic timer, set in the three-sixteenths pole some three lengths in front of the starting gate, is activated when the first horse passes the electric beam.

The 25-second clocking for the first quarter mile by the electric timer was the slowest for any race on Pimlico's Saturday card.

Ecole Etage, who set the early pace, had been timed at 23 1/5 for the quarter when he won the 1 1/16 mile Preakness Prep a week earlier.

Rain Halts Play At State Tourney

Ralston — Rain halted play in the State Class A High School Baseball Tournament here Monday at Oral Smith Field.

Papillon and Omaha South were scoreless at the end of three innings when the rain started. Tournament director Dick Christie said the Papillon-South game will resume Tuesday at 6 p.m. with the fourth inning.

Lincoln Northeast and Omaha Rummel will follow at approximately 7:30 with the winners meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday for the title.

Will Overhead, Indy Legend

WALSENBURG, Colo. (AP) — Venerable sporting events like the Indianapolis 500 have a knack of spawning legends.

The roar of the beast-like Novi with Duke Nalon at the wheel... Ralph DePalma pushing his car across the finish line a lap short of winning... Wilbur Shaw flashing to victory in his famed Maserati... Parnelli Jones running away from the field in a revolutionary turbine only to have the car mysteriously stop three laps from the finish.

And Will Overhead—the mythical hero whose 40th anniversary is being celebrated this month.

Overhead wasn't the stuff of which legends usually are made. For one thing, he was the product of a young editor's imagination and confusion. For another, his memory summons a different type of reverence.

Overhead is more of a journalistic legend, akin to the Chicago Tribune's "Dewey Defeats Truman" blunder.

Overhead never even sat behind the wheel of a race car, much less turned a lap. Yet he became an instant, though previously unknown, hero for racing fans in this small southern Colorado community.

Few of the perpetrators of the dramatic error are still around, but those who remember relate the incident this way:

On the afternoon of May 30, 1933, the young, relatively inexperienced editor of the World-Independent desperately wanted to get final results of the Indianapolis 500 race in his paper, although his Associated Press wire was to shut down before the race was over.

The last report he received announced Fred Frame's elimination while leading the race.

So the editor messaged the Denver bureau of The AP, asking for the final outcome of the 200-lap marathon when it was over.

The AP bureau, in keeping with the usual procedure on such requests, telegraphed this reply: "WILL OVERHEAD WINNER OF INDIANAPOLIS RACE."

The AP editor meant he would "overhead," or send the result by regular Western Union telegram, since the paper's wire wasn't operable.

The W-I editor, however, wasn't familiar with the term "overhead" in that context. Under the pressure of a deadline already passed, he assumed the race had been completed and a driver named Will Overhead had won, so he quickly set to work on a story.

The eight-column headline read: "Overhead Wins Indianapolis Race."

And the story began: "Will Overhead won the Indianapolis Memorial Day race today. At the 250-mile post, Baby Stapp was leading the string of roaring cars, but gave way to Overhead on the last half of the 500-mile grind..."

Suddenly, Will Overhead and the editor of the World-Independent had become as famous as the real winner of the race, Lou Meyer.

He's a legend that just won't die, much to the chagrin of most of the citizens here.

"We sort of wish people would let it die, but they won't," says Lucille Crisp, editor of the Huerfano World, successor to the World-Independent. "The incident made the paper pretty famous. It was a classic boner."

Big Fields Assured

Cozad — Large fields are assured for two special master running events during the Midstates Federation Track and Field Championships at Cozad Monday.

A 220-yard dash and one-mile run will be held for contenders aged 35-over.

Heading the corp is Major Larry Means, an instructor at the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs. Means won the mile title in the recent Kansas Relays in 4:31.5.

Other bidders in the mile include Jim Wilson, Omaha; Don Childs and Gary Shubert, both of Lexington; Loren Schnell of Boulder, Colo.; Bob Creighton of Atwood, Kan., and Bill Gadeke Jr. of Topeka, Kan.

Several of the milers will double in the 220. The sprint group lists the defending champion Ray Graves of Lincoln, former Nebraska schoolboy champ Ed Kester of Cambridge, and John Denver.

Atlanta (UPI) — Jim Ahern of Norfolk was among the 34 qualifiers Monday for the $150,000 Atlanta Golf Classic which begins Thursday.

Ahern had a 35-35 — 70 over the 6,780-yard par 72 Flat Creek Club course. Roy Pace was the top qualifier with a 33-33 — 66.

Ex-Major League

Wehmeier Dead

DALLAS (AP) — Herman Wehmeier, 46, a major league pitcher for more than 10 years, collapsed and died on the witness stand Monday while testifying as a witness in a federal embezzlement trial.

Wehmeier was district terminal manager for the Midland Trans-National Trucking Co when he died.

Walkout Over Jobs Postponed

NEW YORK (AP) — Representatives of race track unions Monday postponed for at least two days a threatened walkout against all state tracks in the wake of passage of a bill which they fear will cost upstate jobs.

The unionists decided at a meeting at Belmont Park to return to Albany and seek amendment of legislation which will permit off-track betting at all tracks after July 1.

A strike now would affect five harness tracks — Roosevelt Raceway, Buffalo, Monticello, Vernon Downs and Saratoga — and two thoroughbred tracks — Finger Lakes and Belmont Park.

The union meeting at Belmont was called by the Joint Council of Race Track Employees of New York, which represents about 57 unions covering pari-mutuel clerks, maintenance workers, culinary help and teamsters.

The unionists are demanding that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller appoint a committee to assess the impact of the measure, passed last week by the legislature and signed by the governor Monday.

Raymond McDonough, chairman of the 90-member Council, cited "absolutely no job protection for mutual employees" at upstate tracks, and asked "what happens... when OTB shops start opening up there. What do they do for a job?"

The Council was expected to demand the same guarantees for upstate clerks as those given mutual clerks in the metropolitan area whereby provision was made to hire any clerks laid off at tracks due to dwindling handles.

Also provided in the agreement with Off-Track Betting Corp. Chairman Howard Samuels is the stipulation that all displaced employees be paid the $8.50 an hour they were earning behind windows at the track instead of the $4 hourly wage OTB clerks received.

Sham Enters Belmont Stakes

NEW YORK (AP) — When Secretariat goes after the Triple Crown in the Belmont Stakes June 9, his main challenger once again will be Sham, trainer Frank "Pancho" Martin confirmed Monday.

"He came out of the race just fine and his next race will be the Belmont," Martin said of Sham, runnerup to Secretariat in the Kentucky and the Preakness, each time by 2½ lengths.

After Saturday's Preakness, Martin had indicated Sham would skip the Belmont, saying: "I have no plans for the horse including the Belmont."

But the trainer said he and owner Sigmund Sommer have decided to start Sham in the 1½-mile Belmont, longest of the Triple Crown races, because the colt had problems in the Derby and Preakness and they wanted to give him another chance.

In the Derby, Sham hit his head in the starting gate and loosened two teeth, which had to be cut out, but still broke two minutes in finishing second to Secretariat who ran the 1¼ miles in a record 1:59 2-5.

Then, in the Preakness, Sham hit the rail going into the first turn.

"It's tough enough to beat a horse like Secretariat without having trouble," said Martin. "I want to see him in a race like the Belmont with plenty of room."

Sham is scheduled to take it easy this week and then begin serious preparation for the Belmont.

Secretariat's trainer, Lucien Laurin, also said his Meadow Stable colt will relax at Belmont Park this week, then get to work for his bid to become thoroughbred racing's first Triple Crown winner since Citation a quarter of a century ago.

"He came out of the Preakness raring to go again," said Laurin.

Laurin also was informed Monday that Pimlico stewards had officially adjusted Secretariat's time of 1:55, third fastest for the 1-3/16 Preakness, to 1:54 2-5, making it the second fastest. Canonero II set the record of 1:54 in 1971.

Laurin said "the change leaves me cold because it still doesn't give me the record," but added he wasn't too upset because the victory was what really counted.

Omahan McGinn Goes From Cubs To Cards

St. Louis (UPI) — The St. Louis Cardinals Monday obtained lefthanded pitcher Dan McGinn for their Tulsa farm club in exchange for lefthanded pitcher Wade Blasingame, who goes to the Chicago Cubs' Wichita farm club.

McGinn, 29, and a former Omahan, compiled a 15-30 major league record while pitching for Cincinnati, Montreal and the Cubs. He was 0-3 with a 5.70 ERA in 25 innings for Wichita this season.

SECRETARIAT ... will meet Sham (right) again.

Baseball Moves Site of Meeting

Houston (UPI) — The winter baseball meetings have been moved to Houston from Orlando, Fla., because of a lack of facilities in Orlando, commission Bowie Kuhn said Monday.

The meetings will start Dec. 3. The Houston Astros, who will be hosts, originally had applied to host the meeting.

They lost out, but Kuhn said they probably would have been the host city in 1975 if the switch was not made this year.

Trevino Tops Million Mark

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lee Trevino is golf's fourth millionaire, thanks to his tie for second in the Memphis Open, but Bruce Crampton and Jack Nicklaus still are ahead of him in the 1973 money race.

Trevino's check at Memphis was for $16,187.50, and he picked up an additional $502.50 pro-am money. All added up, he has a career total of $1,002,401.97.

In the 1973 money race, Trevino has $142,978, behind Crampton's $167,551 and Nicklaus' $146,064.

Lanny Wadkins is fourth at $91,573 and Dave Hill, who won top money of $35,000 at Memphis, leaped to fifth from 24th position.

Trevino joined Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper as millionaires.

Prof. Marmo Completing 44 Years At UNL

The man who may well be the University of Nebraska-Lincoln's senior active faculty member joined the growing circle of his associates as a "Professor Emeritus" at the end of the semester.

Professor E.J. Marmo, who became a member of the Nebraska faculty in September 1929, is completing his 44th year of teaching in and administering the affairs of the Department of Engineering Mechanics in the College of Engineering and Architecture.

In addition to teaching, he has

Prof. D. J.
Marmo

Gets New

been active in professional scientific and engineering organizations both locally and nationally and is listed in Who's Who in Engineering, in the Midwest, in American Education and in American Men of Science.

A native of Old Forge, Pa., Prof. Marmo earned his degree in architectural engineering from Penn State in 1928 and an MS in 1934. After some graduate study and experience as a structural engineer he came to Lincoln as an instructor in the department of applied mechanics and architectural engineering.

In 1931, when the department was divided into one of architecture and another of engineering mechanics, Marmo cast his lot with the engineering program, one of the first EM departments in the nation.

In 1951, during the years when the University was beginning its long struggle to meet the pressure of growing enrollments, Marmo was appointed chairman of the department. He continued to administer its activities for 21 years.

While chairman he presided over the development of the first doctoral program in the College of Engineering and Architecture.

Prof. Marmo is philosophical about his retirement. "It is going to be a change but I'm going to keep an office here in the department and alter my lifestyle gradually, something I've been doing since I stepped down as chairman of the department last year."

POSTCARD

by

Stan Delaplaine

San Francisco—The moppets play a simple card game called "War." I picked up the cards—"Let me see them a minute."

I dealt myself a poker hand, aces and eights! The Dead Man's hand! Wild Bill Hickok was holding aces and eights when Jack McCall shot him in the back. A bad omen. I woke up a couple of times thinking about it.

What is wrong with the blooming world, mates? Some people say it is toy guns. Take away the toy guns, the moppets will not grow up wanting a real one.

Some say it is TV. Too much violence.

Some others say it is permissive parents. (When we say this we don't mean ourselves. We mean the people up the block.)

Sometimes I hear it is the school system. We had a school recall election around here the other day. Heated stuff—nothing like a local election to turn up the fires.

People called me and said: "We've got to get rid of the guy for the sake of our children."

Others came around and said: "We've got to keep this man. For the sake of our children."

My grandfather knew all the answers. He said the trouble with the country was the pesky Democrats. He lived in a Republican world: When he disappeared under the hot towel in the barber shop, you could still hear, muffled and steamy: "Hasn't been a good man in the White House since Teddy Roosevelt."

In all the other chairs, the customers nodded approval.

The shop smelled fragrantly of steam and bay rum.

The barber said: "How about a haircut for you, son?"

My grandfather paid for it: ten cents.

On the school thing, everybody went out and voted. The recall went through. Nothing much changed.

I got up and got the moppets their breakfast.

I said: "Don't pour those cornflakes with such a clatter. Pour them gently, your father was out late last night."

I said: "How's school these days? Better?"

They looked at me like I was crazy. (And I'm not so sure, Doctor.)

It's a troubled world. "What in the world are we coming to?" said grandma. She looked at the fashion page and said women were running around naked as jay birds.

Those were racy days. The new bathing suits had just come out: Bloomers and a high neck top. Sleeves halfway down the arm. Stockings rolled just below the knee.

"It's a wonder the police don't do something about it," grandma said. (My grandfather winked at me behind the paper.) The bathing suits shook the nation. Strong men clutched their throats and staggered off the beach to the nearest saloon for a glass of suds.

Instead of getting better, the world gets more difficult. (And look at all the work we put up into it.)

I said: "Hitch up the wagon. We're moving West."

The children said: "The Cap'n's steering straight for the cooking sherry today."

No mushroom cloud with a silver lining. We have a new kitten. Orphan Annie. A teenage heart breaker. Plenty of tomcats giving her the eye through the picture window.

Hard to discourage a tomcat.

I had Captain Bligh, the Manx, put in neutral a few years ago.

Didn't discourage the toms a bit.

She had two splendid sets of kittens. I said: "That's enough, Captain. Finished with engines."

I took her to the local vet. He closed down the production line.

I said: "That gets rid of the tomcats."

But no. The Captain was twice as attractive to the suitors.

I had to hand it to the old doll. She had something. It wasn't catnip.

Abortion Appeal To High Court

Jefferson City, Mo. (AP) — Missouri Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth said Monday he will appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court a Kansas City federal court ruling that Missouri's abortion law is unconstitutional.

Danforth said the appeal will be based on his contention that an unborn child is human life and the state has a responsibility to protect it.

Earlier this year the U. S. Supreme Court held that abortions are permissible in the first three months of pregnancy.

It did not resolve the question of whether the unborn fetus was human life. Last Friday a three-judge panel in Kansas City ruled on a Missouri case, saying the state's abortion law was not in accord with the Supreme Court ruling.

Market Piles Up Losses

NEW YORK (AP) The stock market continued to pile up losses Monday, despite a late upsurge among some blue chip issues.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks, which fell more than 32 points last week, finished the day with an 8.66 decline at 886.51 after having been more than 15 points lower at mid-afternoon.

Declining issues outpaced those advancing by an overwhelming 1,392-to-227 margin, virtually duplicating the wide spread of Friday, on the New York Stock Exchange Big Board volume of 206.9 million shares was the second largest of the year, failing to match only the 25.3 billion traded on Feb. 13, the day after President Nixon announced plans to devalue the dollar.

Analysts ascribed the market's current weakness to a lengthy list of problems and worries the Watergate case, apparent cloudiness in the economic outlook, and the continuing signs Monday of pressure on the dollar in foreign exchange markets.

"The stock market is the long-hauling public opinion poll in the country — and right now we're getting an over-all expression of great uncertainty and unhappiness," said Monte Gordon at Dreyfus Corp.

"It is difficult to isolate any single trigger for the market's decline. It is more of a weaving of a fabric of uncertainty and unhappiness."

American Telephone warrants unchanged at 6 a head as the Board's most active list. Trading in the warrants included three blocks totaling 155,400.

Occidental Petroleum advanced 3 1/2 to 10. The chairman Dr. Armand Hammer reported he was negotiating a massive pipeline deal with the Soviet Union.

At the American Stock Exchange TWA warrants down a dollar were the most active issue.

Bowman Instrument second on the Amex active list fell 2 1/2 to 29. The company said there were no internal control developments to prompt the decline.

Teletransfer SAVINGS ACCOUNT

DEPOSIT OR WITHDRAW SAVINGS BY PHONE! Earn daily interest on short-term checking account surpluses or temporarily-idle dollars!

FOR INDIVIDUALS...BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL PEOPLE...CORPORATIONS

Dollars lying in a checking account don't earn a penny for you! But now—with a single phone call—those dollars can work for you every day they're on deposit—for a week, a month, or longer! They'll earn a generous 5% per annum, compounded continuously (a 5.127% effective annual yield) from the day of deposit to the day of withdrawal—in a Teletransfer Savings Account at Commercial Federal! You can open your Teletransfer Savings Account any time—minimum balance $1,000... and then deposit or withdraw any time. Leave your money on deposit for one week or more—and earn interest for every day it's in your account. To collect every penny of interest your money has earned, just keep the account open through the end of the quarter—when the interest will be paid or credited.

DEPOSITS OVER $500,000 MUST BE APPROVED BY A SENIOR OFFICER

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS:

Suppose you have more money in your checking account than you really need at the moment—money you're holding for future taxes, stock purchases or other investments, paying bills or any other purpose. Or if you're responsible for funds of churches, fraternal organizations, businesses, estates, or trusts, put that money to work immediately at 5%—with a call!

Just stop in at any of our offices, and arrange for a Teletransfer Savings Account. Or, if you're too busy to come in, just call, and we'll arrange to set up the Account in your name or the name of your firm.

Complete Account information, safely stored in Commercial Federal's giant computer, will always be available to you... and you'll get a receipt for each transaction, plus a quarterly statement showing all transactions.

ADDING TO YOUR ACCOUNT:

Whenever you want to transfer money from your checking account to your Teletransfer Savings Account, you just pick up your phone, call Commercial Federal, and ask for "TELETRANSFER." Give your savings account number and a secret code which will be assigned to you alone. The Teletransfer teller will verify the information through the computer — and as of that moment, the money you're transferring to Commercial Federal will begin earning interest!

IN OMAHA... CALL 558-5400 • IN LINCOLN, COLUMBUS, and
NORFOLK, CALL the OPERATOR and ASK FOR ENTERPRISE 1000
• ELSEWHERE... CALL 402/558-5400 COLLECT

WITHDRAWING FROM YOUR ACCOUNT:

Suppose you need some of the money from your Teletransfer Account. Just phone the Teletransfer teller—give her your account number and secret code—and tell her how much you want transferred back to your checking account or sent direct to you (minimum $200). Either way, a check is issued and mailed that day.

IT'S SAFE!

Naturally, your savings are insured safe at Commercial Federal. And by using the safeguards of the account number and the secret code when you call—and through our refusal to mail any withdrawal check anywhere except to your bank or to you, at the address previously authorized by you—you're protected.

IT'S CONVENIENT... FLEXIBLE!

No trips to the bank or to Commercial Federal. Everything's handled by phone—in minutes. Saves time... saves going out in stormy weather... saves trouble... gets your money working sooner. Teletransfer enables you to earn daily interest on any money in your Teletransfer Savings Account for as short a period as one week!

Don't let a single day go by, with idle money lying in your checking account! Become a Teletransfer Savings Account customer now... and start earning daily interest! Call... write... come in to any of Commercial Federal's offices for complete details... and begin earning "daily rent" on your money immediately!

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
